NO MAIL TODAY

Postal Services Slashed Despite Pledge By House

WASHINGTON, April 12 (UP) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield today stood firm on his order curtailing mail service even though a House committee voted to keep the extra emergency funds he demanded.

Doubt Cast On Economy Of Mail Cut

Post offices throughout the nation will be closed today, but reliable sources indicated yesterday that Summerfield's service cut would cost the taxpayers more money in some cases and save in others.

Post offices of larger size—such as Monroe—will be forced in some cases to hire additional personnel to handle the abundance of mail piling up over the weekend as a result of the Saturday closing.

DIFFERENT SITUATIONS

However, it was pointed out that smaller post offices are faced with different problems and that the closing would save money. A reliable source told the Morning World that the smaller post office could prevent the mail from collecting over the weekend by pulling its rural carriers into the office.

The source explained that rural carriers are hired on an annual (Continued On Page Seven-A)

Europeans Uneasy Over Atomic Arms

BONN, Germany, April 12 (AP) — Opposition to atomic armaments welled up in Germany, Britain and Japan today. But governments lacking agreement for holding the atomic race, forged ahead with plans to equip military forces with nuclear arms.

Britain's Socialists proposed to ensure the government for its new policy of relying chiefly on atomic power. Japan stoked its campaign against atomic tests.

Eighteen West German nuclear scientists, including four Nobel prize winners, sounded an alarm against arming the Federal Republic's forces with atomic weapons. They were joined by Socialist Leader Erich Ollenhauer.

The scientists warned that "the entire West German Republic could be rubbed out" by H-bombs; and that the Ruhr, Europe's greatest industrial area, could be made "uninhabitable for some time." They served notice they are not going to give any help to the government in the "production, testing or even use" of atomic weapons.

Among the signers of the scientists' statement was Otto Hahn, 77-year-old winner of the Nobel chemistry prize for 1944 who split the uranium atom and made possible the Hiroshima bomb. Others were Max von Laue, 78-year-old dean of German Nobel prize winners, who received the award in 1914; Max Born and Werner Heisenberg, both Nobel winners, and 14 other members of the Max Planck Research Institute at Goettingen.

Two Men Hurt In Car Crash

Two Swartz men were undergoing emergency treatment last night at St. Francis hospital after they were in a car accident about half a mile from Swartz on the Old Monroe-Bastrop road.

They were identified as Homer Hare, about 55, and Charles Lambert, 22. Both were rushed to the hospital by a Kilpatrick ambulance at about 11:15. Louisiana State Police were at the scene late last night, investigating the accident.

It was reported that only one car was involved in the crash. Both the men were found prostrate beside the overturned auto. Lambert complained of back and stomach injuries. Hare had lacerations and bruises about the face and forehead.

"ALAS POOR AUTO—"

Heap of auto fragments surrounding auto sales manager Fred Gottesman was, two weeks ago, a shiny new 1957 sedan (Chrysler New Yorker) valued at some $5,000, like the auto at left. Gottesman reported his car stolen March 30 from his home, and police found these few body parts, plus the steering assembly Gottesman holds, on a vacant lot. Auto thieves apparently cut off body in chunks with an acetylene torch, possibly in effort to avoid any future identification of remainder of car. (AP Wirephoto)

Full-Scale Probe Of Economy Set

WASHINGTON, April 12 (UP) — The Senate Finance Committee voted unanimously today to launch a full-scale investigation of the nation's financial, debt and tax structure.

The proposed inquiry appeared broad enough to cover the area proposed by President Eisenhower in his State of the Union message in January. He asked Congress then to set up a commission of prominent citizens to study monetary and fiscal policy.

Committee Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), who announced the action, said the study would get under way as soon as the committee hired a staff.

He said the proposed investigation would cover tax policy as well as credit and that it should yield a catalog of facts which Congress and the country should know.

Byrd said that Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and other government policy makers would be heard in the inquiry. Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), who proposed the study, said the investigation also would go into the cause of the "drastic increase" in interest rates and their effect on the national economy.

Kerr's proposal, which called for a complete study of the financial condition of the United States, specifically included: "1. The revenue, bonded indebtedness and interest rates on all public obligations including contingent liabilities (such as government guaranteed loans to homebuyers and small business)."

"2. Policies and procedures employed in the management of the public debt and the effect thereof upon credit, interest rates and the national economy and welfare; and "3. Factors which influence the availability and distribution of credit and interest rates thereon as they may apply to public and private debt."

With 1003 children receiving anti-polio inoculations on Friday, the total for the first week of the Quachita polio vaccination program came to 5,116, "a good start," according to Dr. W. C. Carroll, head of the parish health unit.

The campaign, aimed at those between 6 months of age up through 19 years, was begun on Monday and will continue next week until all area schools have been visited by the squad of doctors, nurses and volunteers, giving the inoculations.

Yesterday, 843 received the vaccine in schools, with 210 youths at Myles school topping the list for the day. Next in order came Quachita Grammar 158; Lida Benton, 120; Highland, 117; A. L. Smith, 101; Barkdull Paulk, 83; and Drew, 52.

OVERALL TOTAL The over all week's total for children receiving the "shots" at schools now stands at 4,356. At the office of the parish health unit, 760 inoculations were given during the week, with 160 of them listed on Friday.

The campaign is under direction of the Quachita chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the health unit, local medical societies and nurses' organizations.

On Monday, inoculations will be given at Swartz, Lexington, Ransom and Swartz (white) from 4:30 a.m. to 12 noon; at Georgia Tucker, Mitchell, Swartz (Negro) from 1 to 3 p.m.; and Mount Nemo, from 2 to 3 p.m. These children will receive their second inoculation on May 13.

Area Facing Icy Weekend An ice-cold weekend is the weather picture for the Two Cities area. Today will be mostly cloudy and much colder than Friday and showers will fall. Tomorrow won't be as cold, but will be very cloudy.

High temperature yesterday in Monroe was 64, and low was 44. During 1949-50, he said, the census showed the South experienced a population gain to net migration of 114,270. This was the "first time since the Civil War that the South considered as a unit has actually shown an increase of population as a result of interregional migration," Hitt said.

Tension Mounting In Mid-East Area

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, April 12 (UP) — Tension rose today over a government crisis in Jordan and Arab threats against Israeli shipping, both of which forebode trouble for Israel.

Israeli officials remained determined to keep free passage to return in June with 3,500 tons through the Gulf of Aqaba and the Red Sea. Israel, which shares the gulf from the southern port of Eilat, coastline with Saudi Arabia, despite Saudi Arabia's announcement that it would "take all means" to bar Israeli shipping, is which pitted pro-western King Abdullah against the leftist forces. Arabian statement "inevitable" of ex-premier Suleiman Nabulsi, an ardent friend of Egypt and Syria.

Israel stood by Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's statement to the United Press three weeks ago that Israel would "fully defend its rights to passage through the Gulf of Aqaba."

INTENDS TO USE GULF Israeli ambassador to Washington, Abba Eban, said after a meeting with United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld in New York that Israel was "using and intends to use" the gulf.

As if to prove the point, it was revealed that the Danish freighter, Brigitte Toth, which sailed to Eilat, but through the contested gulf, departed yesterday by the same route with Israeli cargo for Burmah.

Obscene Film Ring Broken By Police

DALLAS, April 12 (UP) — The FBI said today it has broken up an obscene film ring that has operated from coast to coast and arrested the "kingpin" distributor of the films.

A federal grand jury returned the camera from the secret hideouts today against cameraman's hands and also 36-year-old Wyman Hulan Parr, knocked his glasses off.

Others indicted besides Parr were Robert G. Bly of Dallas, and Jesse S. Hammon Jr., 36, and Hammon's wife, Catherine, 32, of Dallas office, said film has been recovered in St. Louis, Tampa, Fla., Seattle, Wash., Houston, Los Angeles, Hobbs, N.M., and the graphic, colorful word pictures of the events leading up to the murder.

The testimony of each witness was reviewed by attorneys for both the defense and the prosecution. When asked his reaction to the verdict of manslaughter, Whitley said: "I was very disappointed as I had hoped it would be not guilty."

He said his defending lawyers would ask for a retrial and praised them for doing "a wonderful job." (Continued On Page Seven-A)

LAKE PROVIDENCE, April 12 — A verdict of guilty of manslaughter was returned here today against Glen Whitley by a jury that deliberated for three hours and 15 minutes.

Convicted for the Sept. 1, 1956 killing of Pete Navarro, the 34-year-old Lake Providence man showed no outward sign of emotion when the verdict was read.

He sat as quietly as he had during the previous four days of the trial's progress.

The entire day was taken up in the summation of the case by District Attorney Thompson Clark, Adams and two of the three defense attorneys.

VERDICT AT 6 P.M. The case was given to the jury at 2:45 p.m. and it gave its verdict at 6 p.m.

An overflowing crowd filled the courtroom again today as the sensational trial drew to its close.

Freezing Weather Hits South

By UNITED PRESS

One of the hardest springs in the nation's history brought record-breaking cold and snow to the already storm-battered central plains Friday and moved east to force a halt to shipping on ice-locked Lake Superior.

The Coast Guard shut down the lake to freighters and other craft after the sturdy icebreaker Mackinaw took six hours to escort two freighters eight miles through a giant ice jam. The Mackinaw's captain described the ice barrier as the worst in his experience on the Great Lakes and said the ice piled up to 20 feet in front of the icebreaker's prow.

COVERS MID-NATION

The cold air mass about covered all the nation between the Rockies and the Appalachians, except the southeast, and even some southeastern areas were due to feel the chill.

A temperature reading of 10 below zero was registered at Hill City, S. D., during the day. Elsewhere, readings hovered around zero in the northern midwest, dropped to the 20-degree level in the Panhandle of Texas and stayed in the 30's in the eastern mountain areas from West Virginia to New York state.

FOURTH STORM

It was the fourth icy blast to take over the nation's midsection since the official start of spring. Earlier blizzards and allied tornadoes and storms have taken more than 100 lives since winter bowed out.

The new storm dumped more than a half foot of snow on south-east Kansas, forced travelers to hole up in Texas Panhandle towns, and snarled traffic through Oklahoma in one of the state's latest severe winter storms in history.

ICY ROADS In Texas, motorists were reported laying over at Dalhart rather than risk travel on the ice-glazed highways. Most transcontinental highways across the Panhandle were still travel-worthy, although motorists had to put chains on their car tires.

Polio Cases Dip Below Half Rate For Last Year

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP) — Polio cases reported up to April 6 numbered less than half as many as in the similar period last year, and for the 1956-57 "disease year" were the lowest in 10 years.

A Public Health Service spokesman said today the use of Salk polio vaccine definitely played a part in the reduction.

The service said 50 cases were reported up to April 6, compared with 1,134 up to April 7 last year. The "disease year" ended March 30—at about the time of lowest incidence—with 14,861 cases listed for 1956-57 as compared with 29,274 for 1955-56.

Reports were compiled somewhat differently in 1946-47, but the spokesman said the 1956-57 totals were the lowest since that year.

Surgeon Gen. Leroy E. Burney, in a new report on the vaccine supply situation, said that even though 5,200,000 doses were released so far during April, it is probable that demand will continue to exceed supply for some time. He said larger supplies from manufacturers are expected in the last half of April.

DALLAS, April 12 (UP) — The FBI said today it has broken up an obscene film ring that operated from coast to coast and arrested the "kingpin" distributor of the films.

A federal grand jury returned secret indictments today against 36-year-old Wyman Hulian Parr, operator of a camera shop in Dallas whom the FBI described as the "kingpin" of the operations, and four other persons.

W. A. Murphy, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent in charge of the Dallas office, said film has been recovered in St. Louis, Tampa, Fla., Seattle, Wash., Houston, Los Angeles, Hobbs, N.M., and other cities.

MURPHY A WHOLESALER
Parr, described by Murphy as a wholesaler, was charged with two counts of conspiracy to violate obscene matter statutes.

Others indicted besides Parr were Robert G. Bly of Dallas, and Jesse S. Hampton Jr., 36, and Hampton's wife, Catherine, 32, and Sam Gold, 48, a novelty salesman of St. Louis.

Murphy said Gold was arrested at St. Louis about a month ago and released on bond.

They were all indicted under the transportation of obscene matter act.

Bly was charged, along with Parr, with conspiring to cause obscene films to be transported to New Mexico.

Parr was named in the indictment with Gold of transporting obscene movies from Dallas to St. Louis.

Hampton and his wife, who lived in a home owned by Parr, were indicted on a count of transporting obscene matter.

PITCHING CAMP

The Central District Camporee of the Ouachita Valley Council pitched camp yesterday afternoon at Camp Ki-Ro-Li and these members of Troop 11 of West Monroe are busily preparing for the chilly night. Another similar scene was going on at Joyce where the Southwest District was holding its annual camporee. Both events will end today. Scoutmaster of the Scouts pictured is Bob Preddy. AT KI-RO-LI

Boy Scout Camp Is City Of Tents

Boy Scouts from Monroe and West Monroe turned out in force late yesterday to open the annual Central District Camporee at Camp Ki-Ro-Li.

District executive Travis Chevalier assigned the participating troops to their areas and late afternoon the camp area was turned into a small canvas city.

The Scouts spent the chilly night bundled in blankets and sleeping bags and were scheduled to arise this morning and burst into a full day of Scouting activity.

Numerous contests requiring scoutcrafts will be held, in addition to the judging of camping areas. Scouts will be judged on their camping ability.

They are cooking their own meals—some of them patrol style and others individually—and will break camp this afternoon by 4 p.m.

The Southwest District kicked off its annual spring camporee yesterday also, setting up headquarters at the Tremont Lumber grounds at Joyce.

A similar program of Scouting will be held at Joyce as was underway here also. The camporees are held to improve the Scouts' camping ability.

The Ouachita Valley Council has launched its spring program with the camporees as the initial step. The Scout Circus will follow in May with Ki-Ro-Li opening in June.

Approximately 4,000 Scouts are expected to participate in the spring program, Scout executive Jack E. Pankey said.

Chemoil Corp. Plans Refinery At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, April 12 (AP)—Chemoil Corp. of New Orleans said today it would build a 30 million dollar oil refinery between Baton Rouge and New Orleans, probably within a year.

President John R. Tusson said the plant site has not been purchased, but probably will be "about halfway between Baton Rouge and New Orleans."

He said the plant would produce ethylene, propylene and other liquefied petroleum gases.

Thirty million will represent only initial investment, Tusson said, with additional expenditures involved in laying pipeline and other facilities.

Financing details are being worked out by New York interests, he said.

The company charter, issued over a year ago, authorizes Chemoil to explore for and produce oil, refine it and lay pipeline to transport it and to market the product at wholesale and retail levels.

Pet Leopard Prowls Miami

Miami, April 12 (UP)—A young pet leopard prowled the manicured jungle of the city outskirts today and the owner fretted that it might be "scared and hungry." Residents locked up cats and dogs that might make a tasty meal for the spotted beast.

Mrs. Stan (Bonnie) Tindall, 15-year-old owner of the brown and black-spotted leopard, said the pet "might put her teeth on you but she won't sink them in unless you act afraid."

Jaba, the one-year-old jungle cat, snapped its tethering chain yesterday and disappeared into an area near the house which the Tindall family moved into two days ago. The area is just outside the northern Miami city limits.

Mrs. Tindall, who has raised Jaba from a one and one-half pound furry kitten to a three and one-half foot cat weighing between 25 and 30 pounds, assured police that the beast was unlikely to harm children and dogs.

Brooks Fights Oil Drilling At Barksdale Base

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Rep. Brooks (D-La.) made certain, during House debate this week, that a bill dealing with public lands taken over by military services does not authorize any agency to drill for oil on the big Barksdale Air Force Base at Shreveport.

The bill, which passed the House provides that no military service may take over more than 5,000 acres of federal land without the consent of Congress.

Brooks said he wanted to make certain specifically that it gave the interior department no more drilling authority than it now has in relation to the Barksdale base.

Chairman Engle (D-Calif.) of the House Interior Committee, which handled the bill, assured Brooks that the committee had no intention of giving the department any such additional authority.

The exchange was important in that it establishes, for the record, the congressional intent in event the question should arise in the future.

Brooks pointed out that the air base is on 23,000 acres which the city originally bought and gave to the Air Force. There has been some drilling on the base under authority of the President to permit offset drilling to be done in order to prevent waste.

Engle said the bill does not add to any authority the department has—that it lacks authority now it gains nothing under the bill.

Inspection Day Is Arranged At New City School

The new city junior high school on Pecan street will be open for public inspection Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

There will be no formal program, city school system superintendent Van D. Odum said yesterday.

Acting as hosts for the occasion will be the Parent-Teacher Associations of the Barkdull Faulk, Lida Benton, and Plum Street Elementary schools.

Odum said that all the furniture and other equipment is not yet in the building but "we (School Board) want the people of Monroe and surrounding area to see the building as it now stands—completed but not occupied."

The school, along with another on the north side of Monroe, will be ready for occupancy in September of this year.

FOR CITY OF MONROE

Bonds Purchases Seen As Savings

Approximately $112,000 in savings is anticipated through the City Council's purchase of 145 water and electricity revenue bonds, which were issued by the city, it was brought out yesterday.

The Council met in a special session and moved to purchase the bonds at a cost of $134,400.40. The city would have had to pay interest on the bonds for an average of 25.2 years had they been allowed to mature.

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard explained that the purchase will be made from funds set aside each month as a "bond call" fund. The city is required by law to place a certain amount in the fund, which cannot be used for any purpose other than to buy the bonds back or to pay the principal and interest at maturity. The city can legally use the money to repurchase some of the bonds after a certain length of time. The fund is deposited in two local banks and does not draw interest.

Bids on the sale of the bonds were received by the City Council at its regular session Tuesday and were referred to H. W. McSherry, Commissioner of Finance, for classification and study.

Ten of the bonds will be purchased from Ducournau and Kees of New Orleans, 33 from Barrow, Leary and Company of Shreveport, and 102 from Scharf and Jones of New Orleans.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Kate Gaddis; three children, Major Marie Gaddis Kessler, Air Force Base, M-Sgt. P. M. Gaddis, Jr., Berlin, Germany, J. T. Gaddis, Monroe; one step-daughter, Mrs. J. P. Boulton, San Francisco; three sisters, Mrs. H. E. Rushing; Mrs. Ethel Robinson, Archibald; Mrs. Inel Evans, Marton, Miss.; three brothers, Leighton Gaddis, and Tom Gaddis both of Mississippi, and Clarence Gaddis, Lubbock, Texas.

The former Gulfport police chief, a leader for many years in the state's law enforcement circles, became ill March 13 while attending a board meeting at Parchman penitentiary.

Doctors said the March 13 incident was a stroke and that a second and more severe stroke occurred last Thursday, from which he never regained consciousness. Physicians here said leaking gas which Payne inhaled at Parchman accidentally was definitely a factor in the strokes.

C. D. Robertson of Parchman, resident member of the board, said at the time Payne was originally stricken that gas fumes in his room at the superintendent's home were believed responsible for his illness.

Payne was treated for a few days in the penitentiary hospital and then was taken to university hospital in Jackson, where he appeared to be recovering. On April 4 he was brought to the Starkville home of his son-in-law, Dr. John Chris Longest, who is also a staff physician in Felix Long Memorial Hospital.

SAYS DIRECTOR Clean-Up Drive Called Success

Hailing the first 14 days of Operation Clean-up as "a tremendous success," Mrs. Wilson Ewing, chairman of the steering committee on the city-wide clearance program, forecast yesterday that the entire city of Monroe will take on an improved appearance as a result of the campaign.

Mrs. Paul Keller, Jr., co-chairman of the drive in the college area, reported that block-by-block work on a 96-block corridor accomplished improvement in front yards, mowed lawns and lots, elimination of litter and loose paper, and a general "co-operative attitude" by area residents.

The contributions by the colored section to the campaign have been praised as "wonderful work" by Coordinator Joe Ellis. Twenty-five workers are now in action in South Jackson, Booker T. Addition and Bryant Addition, with D. B. Robinson and Lillie Coleman in charge of the section.

Bad weather during the first two weeks caused some delay in the city's over-all work, but the improvement is extremely good, according to drive workers.

Living Cost Up 3.3 Per Cent Over April '56

BATON ROUGE, April 12, (Special)—The retail price level of living essentials purchased by moderate-income families in Monroe has increased 3.3 per cent from the level of March a year ago and 1.7 per cent over September, 1956.

The figures were compiled by the division of research of the college of commerce at Louisiana State University. The index now stands at 112.8 (1947-49 prices equals 100.)

All major groups showed increases. The food index, up 0.7 per cent over September, 1956, registered a gain of 3.3 per cent for the year with the meats, poultry, and fish subgroup leading the advance. Higher flour and cereal prices moved the cereals and bakery products subindex 1.5 per cent above the level of September, 1956, and 2.9 per cent above the level of a year ago.

The meats, poultry, and fish subindex rose 2.5 per cent above the September, 1956, mark and 5.7 per cent above the level of March, 1956, due mainly to higher beef and pork prices. The dairy products subindex, up 2.1 per cent from the September, 1956, level, registered an increase of 5.5 per cent above the level of a year ago as prices of milk, butter, and cheese rose.

The fruits and vegetables subgroup, down 1.4 per cent from the level of six months ago, registered a slight increase (0.5 per cent) for the year. The other foods at home subindex, 0.7 per cent below the September, 1956, level, was 2.4 per cent above the March, 1956, mark.

The housing group, led by household operations, continued its upward movement, registering gains of 2.8 per cent over September, 1956, and 4.2 per cent for the year. The rent subindex, up 1.0 per cent from the September, 1956, mark, is 0.9 per cent above the level of a year ago.

Gas and electricity increased slightly (0.2 per cent) for the year. House furnishings advanced 0.9 per cent over the level of September, 1956, and 5.2 per cent above the level of a year ago. Costs of household operations rose 6.2 per cent from September, 1956, and 7.2 per cent for the year, due mainly to higher laundry, dry cleaning, and domestic service rates.

Apparel registered increases of 0.3 per cent and 1.9 per cent over the levels of September and March, 1956, respectively. Higher costs of gasoline, oil, and used cars moved the costs of transportation 3.4 per cent above the level of September, 1956, and 5.1 per cent above a year ago.

Medical care advanced 0.4 per cent for the six-month period and 1.3 per cent for the year. Personal care rose 0.3 per cent and 0.8 per cent above the levels of September, 1956, and March, 1956, respectively, as a result of price increases for razor blades, cleaning tissue and other personal items. Reading and recreation advanced 0.8 per cent for both periods.

Other goods and services rose 0.5 per cent from the September, 1956, mark and 1.1 per cent for the year.

Cancer Fund Drive Sunday Is Scheduled

One-hundred and twenty-five Ouachita parish residents will die of cancer this year; 225 new cases will be revealed. The "Cancer Crusade," which will take place from 1 to 4 p.m. tomorrow, is aimed at saving these 225 people before the disease spreads throughout their bodies, and to teach others the danger signals of cancer, so that it may be checked if it appears.

Parish American Cancer Society Chairman Fred Huenefeld, commenting on the scheduled drive, has said that "No better investment can be made this April than a contribution to the annual cancer crusade. So, fight cancer with a checkup and a check."

Leaflets telling the seven danger signals of cancer will be distributed by volunteers who will go from house to house in the Twin Cities tomorrow. Any contribution given to them will go to aid research against cancer, and education and service programs which are instrumental in forewarning people and saving lives.

Service through the Ouachita unit of the American Cancer Society was said to be continuous throughout the year. This includes transportation to and from the nearest treatment center, 50 per cent of the cost of pain-relieving drugs, bandages and dressings.

A sick-loan closet is also maintained here at the ACS office, 408 Hudson Lane. This includes hospital beds, linens, hospital gowns, wheelchairs, crutches, and other items needed for the care and comfort of cancer patients.

Huenefeld reported there has been dramatic progress in cancer control, much of the credit for which, he said, must go to the cancer society's educational program.

He explained this progress as the reason underlying the growing emphasis on health examinations as regularly as birthdays, not only for cancer but to detect other unsuspected ailments in their early stages.

"Remember Sunday, April 14, the chairman urged. "When you are called upon, please give generously."

JUSTICE, STATE DEPTS.

House Group Cuts Funds $100 Million

WASHINGTON, April 12 (UP)—The House Appropriations Committee today whacked more than $100 million dollars, or 15 per cent, from the budgets of the State and Justice departments and the U.S. Information Agency.

The USA, which lost 26 per cent of its requested funds, was hit hardest by the cut.

The committee rapped the information agency for enlarging its payroll, wrapping its operations in a "cloak of secrecy" and attempting to "propagandize the American public."

A personal plea to the committee by President Eisenhower to grant his full request for the information agency went unheeded. It also cut sharply into the State Department budget and rebuked department officials for proposing "such niceties" as swimming pools and cabin boats for overseas employees.

The committee approved only $563,793,793 of the $667,643,392 that President Eisenhower requested for the three bureaus in the 1958 fiscal year beginning next July 1.

It brought to $1,131,173,749 the total reduction claimed by the House and its appropriation committee in budget requests of $11,965,542,403. This averaged out to about 7.6 per cent. However, some of the cuts would not mean a reduction in actual spending.

The same percentage applied against Eisenhower's overall $71,100,079,000 budget would mean a reduction of more than 5 billion dollars.

Democratic leaders have said they would sponsor a tax cut later this year if sizable savings were made and if revenues this spring met expectations.

The committee approved 106-million dollars for the USA, a cut of almost 38 million dollars. That would leave the agency with almost seven million less than it received last year.

The State Department received $180,332,743 of the $227,714,322 it wanted. If this $47,381,579 cut prevailed, the department would have just a little less than it had for fiscal 1957.

SAYS HEART SPECIALIST

Heart Disease No Deterrent To Pregnancy

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reorter
BOSTON, April 12 (AP)—Heart disease "need not be a deterrent to pregnancy" and "virtually all" women with heart conditions can safely undertake having a baby, is the opinion of a Harvard medical school doctor.

He said, however, that he was "prepared to retreat" from the latter broader statement — presumably if evidence contrary to his own experience were presented and outweighed it.

Dr. James Metcalfe voiced the view today in an interview after he and Dr. C. Sidney Burwell, also of Harvard, reported to the American College of Physicians on results of a six-year study of pregnancies among heart-diseased women. The ACP ended its 38th annual meeting today.

They said there were 320 pregnancies among 276 such women

observed in the study carried on at Boston Lying-in Hospital, and that only three deaths occurred from heart disease in the six-year period.

Eighty-five per cent of the women had rheumatic heart disease; 12 per cent had congenital heart trouble; and the remainder had miscellaneous heart conditions.

"We've seen patients with all degrees of severity of heart disease go through pregnancy successfully," Dr. Metcalfe told a reporter. He said pregnancies in heart-diseased women should be cared for on an individual basis, but that in general, the key rules involve:

1. Controlling activity of the patient.
2. Reducing the intake of salt.
3. Controlling anemia, overweight and infections.
4. Giving early and continuous

care. He said that in the Harvard series of cases, only three of the 276 women required "prolonged" rest in bed either at the hospital or at home during their pregnancy, although he said "many" of them were brought into the hospital for a few days from time to time to other loads she has — such as the load of high activity — in order to evaluate their condition.

Having a baby while afflicted with a heart condition, he said, he said, "And she and her doctor should balance the heart's budget, just like a woman has to try to straighten out any 'emo-anes the family economic budget, tional upsets' to which she might be subject."

It brought to $1,141,175,749 the total reduction claimed by the House and its appropriation Committee in budget requests of $14,963,542,403. This averaged out to about 7.6 per cent. However, some of the cuts would not mean a reduction in actual spending.

The same percentage applied against Eisenhower's overall $71,800,000,000 budget would mean a reduction of more than 5 billion dollars.

Democratic leaders have said they would sponsor a tax cut later this year if sizable savings were made and if revenues this spring met expectations.

The committee approved 106-million dollars for the USA, a cut of almost 38 million dollars. That would leave the agency with almost seven million less than it received last year.

The State Department received $180,382,743 of the $227,714,522 it wanted. If this $47,331,809 cut prevailed, the department would have just a little less than it had for fiscal 1957.

The California's Maxey No. 1, was completed December 1945 and abandoned February 9, 1946 as non-commercial well 11. The California's Maxey No. 2 was completed October 17, 1948, at a depth of 9,871 feet. This well produced a total of 37 barrels of 54.4 gravity oil but was abandoned March 30th, 1949 as non-commercial.

SAYS HEART SPECIALIST

Heart Disease No Deterrent To Pregnancy

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

BOSTON, April 12 (UP)—Heart disease "need not be a deterrent to pregnancy" and "virtually all" women with heart conditions can safely undertake having a baby, is the opinion of a Harvard medical school doctor.

He said, however, that he was "prepared to retreat" from the latter broader statement — presumably if evidence contrary to his own experience were presented and outweighed it.

Dr. James Metcalfe voiced the view today in an interview after he and Dr. C. Sidney Burwell, also of Harvard, reported to the American College of Physicians on results of a six-year study of pregnancies among heart-diseased women. The ACP ended its 38th annual meeting today.

They said there were 320 pregnancies among 276 such women

observed in the study carried on at Boston Lying-in Hospital, and that only three deaths occurred from heart disease in the six-year period.

Eighty-five per cent of the women had rheumatic heart disease; 12 per cent had congenital heart trouble; and the remainder had miscellaneous heart conditions.

"We've seen patients with all degrees of severity of heart disease go through pregnancy successfully," Dr. Metcalfe told a reporter. He said pregnancies in heart-diseased women should be cared for on an individual basis, but that in general, the key rules involve:

1. Controlling activity of the patient.
2. Reducing the intake of salt.
3. Controlling anemia, overweight and infections.
4. Giving early and continuous

care. He said that in the Harvard series of cases, only three of the 276 women required "prolonged" rest in bed either at the hospital or at home during their pregnancy, although he said "many" of them were brought into the hospital for a few days from time to time to evaluate their condition.

Having a baby while afflicted with a heart condition, he said, requires balancing the heart's budget, just like a woman balances the family economic budget. "She must remove some of the other loads she has — such as the load of high activity — in order to make a place for pregnancy," he said. And she and her doctor should try to straighten out any "emotional upsets" to which she might be subject.

Abolishing Of Death Penalty Gains Favor

Great Britain's recent abolishment of the death penalty is of especial interest in Louisiana because of the situation presently existing in this state.

Because of a change in Louisiana's system of execution, no person has been put to death by the state in a good many months. A state execution chamber, at which all executions in Louisiana will be carried out by electrocution, is now under construction and all executions have been postponed during its construction.

According to a compilation made by Milton Coverdale, of Monroe, secretary of the Louisiana Sheriffs Association and former sheriff of Ouachita parish, for Dr. Edward Grant, head of the Louisiana Department of Institutions, 18 convicted persons were awaiting execution in Louisiana as of November, 1956. The number may have been increased slightly since that time by new convictions, although there is a possibility that commutations since that time may have offset new convictions. Coverdale fixed the minimum now awaiting execution at 18.

It was reported that Gov. Earl K. Long has not fixed an execution date since he took office during his present term, for the reason that the completion date of the execution chamber is uncertain.

Any change in execution laws by the legislature at the next session might have a profound effect on the futures of these 18 or more condemned men.

Officials here were of the opinion that the number of death verdicts in Louisiana coincidentally has been large during the period of non-execution. They believed the number of executions in the state in a year might ordinarily range from two or three to a half-dozen or slightly more.

There have been four legal executions in Ouachita parish, at the courthouse, since 1824. Three of these were Negroes and one was a white man. These were all by hanging and there has never been a legal execution by electrocution in this parish. None of those now awaiting execution are from Ouachita parish, Sheriff Bailey Grant said.

Britain's abolishment of the death penalty provided a few exceptions. One of these was that a prisoner who killed a law enforcement officer while attempting to escape from prison or from custody could be executed.

Incidentally, this exception is one of which District Judge David I. Garrett of Ouachita and Morehouse parishes said he would approve if elimination of capital punishment for Louisiana should ever be considered. Judge Garrett said he was not certain that capital punishment was effective as a general deterrent of crime but that he felt it would be effective in reducing the number of killings of prison and law enforcement officers by desperadoes in their attempts to escape. He pointed out that a prisoner under life sentence could have nothing more to fear if the death penalty were abolished.

The tendency among states of the United States in recent years has been toward abolishing the death penalty. Supporters of the no-death-penalty plan say statistics show that major crimes do not increase when the death penalty is removed, nor do they decrease when it is restored.

The question of the death penalty goes hand in hand with the discussion of extremely severe punishment for other crimes. There are many who believe that laws against drug peddlers should be made tougher, while there are others who think these laws could be eliminated completely by destroying the drug market. They think this could be done by allowing drug addicts to register at state charity hospitals and to obtain the drugs at little or no cost. This would remove the market from the hands of drug bootleggers and remove their incentive to recruit new addicts. Thus, addiction could decline as the present users were cured or died.

These are things worth considering if and when the legislature proposes changes in such laws.

New Soil Bank Plan Making Big Bigger

More than 100 small tenant farmers near Syracuse, Kans., have registered a complaint that the federal government's new soil bank plan is making the big bigger and the small smaller.

They have signed and forwarded petitions to Congressman Floyd Breeding in Washington, complaining that under present soil bank arrangements "an injustice is being done the small farmers by the landowners."

They explain that in the drought years up to now the tenant farmers have operated the land at a loss. But now that the soil bank has been put into operation the landlords are taking over their own property as "operators" and thus collecting the full amount of the soil bank payments.

It is easy to sympathize with these men being driven from the land by the inexorable economics of the times. It is at the same time difficult to see how a clause could be put into the soil bank bill to prohibit the practice of which they complain, as they suggest, without scuttling the intent of the law or creating almost impossible problems of enforcement.

The Syracuse petitions are illustrative of the fact that for every problem that is solved temporarily by new farm legislation two new ones seem to spring up.

Formerly when a diplomat sent a sharp note to another it threatened war. Now it's merely an exchange of invective.

"An Atlanta disc jockey who hung up some sort of record by staying on duty and working continuously for 92 hours suffered no ill effects."—News item. It's strange he didn't talk himself to death in the first 24 hours.

Don't get mixed up about the Motion Picture Academy awards the other evening of the No. 1 Oscars. It was Yul Brenner—not Ingrid Bergman—who was cited for playing in "The Ten Commandments." She won on her performance in "Anastasia."

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

European Nations Fail To Realize That U.S. Is Made Up Of 48 States

No one resembles the stereotype, John Bull, more closely than Winston Churchill but he is half American on his mother's side. The present prime minister, Harold Macmillan, also had an American mother and although he does not fit the stereotype of John Bull, he does look like an Englishman who might sit near a club window and discuss the waywardness of his generation. Perhaps the most pugnacious British minister who has been in these parts in recent years, Lord Hailsham, Minister of Education in the Macmillan Cabinet and first lord of the admiralty in the Anthony Eden Cabinet, also had an American mother, who hailed from Nashville, Tennessee.

The question often arises in my mind as to how much American mothers impart of American ways to their sons with whom we have to deal on the other side of the table. Why is it so difficult for Europeans of whatever country to understand the nature of our constitutional government which places limitations on the federal government? Why do they not realize that despite all the efforts to abolish states rights, the Federal Government is not a national government but the common organ of 48 sovereign states and that sovereignty is vested in the people of the states and not in the federal government?

It is this confusion that has cost Europe so much. For instance, Woodrow Wilson could get Great Britain and France to join the League of Nations but not the United States of which he was President. Franklin D. Roosevelt was more successful in having his way because he was generally favored by the people, but the accumulation of data indicating, however conclusively or inconclusively, that his last years produced costly errors of judgment has resulted in a revulsion from leadership which presently embarrasses the Eisenhower administration.

It would seem that Western Europeans, accustomed to the ministerial system, never quite grasp that we do not have ministers of state, that the President is the only elected official in the national administration, with a Vice President who really has nothing much to do but to wait for the President to die or to become incapacitated. All the cabinet members hold office by virtue of the President's will or even whim.

Furthermore, while the Senate only confirms appointments of officials and ratifies treaties, Congress controls appropriations and can knock down any presidential commitment by withholding funds. In Great Britain or France that would lead to the downfall of a government, but not with us. The President's term is fixed by the Constitution and no matter how often he is voted down, he remains in office. Thus, if President Eisenhower's budget is shredded to ribbons, he will not resign and if he were to resign, not the opposition would take over, but the Vice President, Richard Nixon. There is no similar situation in any European country and somehow the dissimilarity makes too little impression upon those who deal with us.

In the nearly two centuries that the United States has been moving away from Great Britain, both countries have changed, so that to speak of the United States as an Anglo-Saxon country is an error in political terminology. Canada is closer in its political institutions to Great Britain, despite the French influence, than the United States is. Parliament is a very different institution than it was when the Declaration of Independence was proclaimed. Congress was at no time a copy of the British Parliament but was differently conceived because of the difference in size and character of the American states which formed the more perfect union.

And we never had a king and although in Great Britain, that institution has changed radically, we never had one at all and therefore never developed a class responsibility based on status. In fact, status counts for so little in this country that even where respect is deserved, it is rarely forthcoming and a man's standing in the community is seldom established for the right reasons.

It is important to add that we shall not be made over in the image of any other country any more than it can be expected that any other country will be made over in our image. And if that is understood, we might all get along a little better, even in our disappointments. (Copyright, 1957, King Features)

Eisenhower Administration Is Counting On Morocco

CASABLANCA, MOROCCO — Morocco, a benevolent monarchy under its energetic 47-year-old Sultan, is one of the "new" nations on which the Eisenhower Administration is banking. If Secretary Dulles and the President are right, Morocco and other refuge countries from European colonialism will struggle through the transition and come up fighting for the West against the disguised imperialism called Communism.

In Morocco signs of the struggle are visible on every hand. From where I sit in a moving automobile to write this piece, a humped camel is painfully and monotonously walking his circle to draw well water to irrigate a field of crops. Along the highway in town, there is usually a French gendarme on duty with a native policeman. Overhead the American Sabre jets are swooshing across the endless blue sky. On the city streets American airmen are going gingerly to and fro, mindful that this is Ramadan season when Muslims fast during the daylight hours and are apt to be irritable and unreasonable toward foreigners.

The struggle, then, is one of several complexities. Some $20 million worth of American technical aid and surplus food have just been allocated to Morocco. If properly used, much of it will go toward teaching modern farming methods and preventing a famine which threatens because of the winter's drought. But the natives would rather not learn modern farming. The ways of their forefathers — sheep herding, the culture of olives, dates and a few edibles — are good enough, better even than what the foreign devils offer. About 50,000 French police and civil servants are still here because the Sultan, Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, needs time to train replacements. Everything at all "modern" in Morocco is due to the 400,000 French inhabitants. Another reason why their officials remain is to safeguard businesses and real property owned by these colonists from metropolitan France.

But the Moroccans don't care much for their former masters either, which is no wonder. Morocco is a backward country by design. The natives can't get along with the French, but they can't get along without them, either, for a while. As a not untypical sign of resentment, Arab workmen smashed up some French road-building equipment because they thought it was a symbol of French domination.

Some thoughtful persons here liken Morocco to China in terms of eventual Communization. But at present the only prominent Communists here are — of all things! — French functionaries or civil servants. The French are also directly responsible for channeling Moroccan workers into a Communist group. Under the French "protectorate" (a sort of mythological term for colony) the Moroccan Labor movement was outlawed because it favored Moroccan nationalism. But the workers did in large numbers — the Communist-dominated French union called C. G. D. — Confederation-Generale du Travail.

The Eisenhower police for trusting "new" nations will probably be tested in Morocco on purely pragmatic grounds. Does it work? Well, the Sultan's government will work under two assumptions. One is that the French gradually retire in good faith, as promised. The other is that American and European capital enterprise can be persuaded to move in and replace the vanished French.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Clergymen, Priests And Rabbis Simply Prophets

Dr. Horton is what I call the "St. Paul of St. Petersburg", as millions of you readers can attest, for he has spoken to vast audiences for 25 years. Modern clergymen often have far greater influence than the prophets of old. And religious music now unites men of different races, so it is the ally of great moral leaders.

Case U-354: Dr. Paul R. Horton, age 50, is a dynamo of moral fervor who has occupied the pulpit at Christ Methodist Church in St. Petersburg, Florida, the past 25 years.

Recently his big parish decided to surprise him with a silver anniversary jubilee. And I was asked to fill the pulpit on Sunday morning in a new sanctuary seating 1,800 people.

It was beautifully decorated and had plush theater seats instead of the conventional pews.

I spoke on my favorite topic — "Jesus—the World's Greatest Applied Psychologist."

And I pointed out the fact that modern priests, rabbis and clergymen are simply prophets such as Elijah and Jeremiah or Isaiah of old.

A man like Dr. Horton, who has three morning services all throughout the winter season, thus has spoken in 25 years to more people than inhabited all of Palestine at the time of Christ.

Indeed, he average clergymen in America probably speaks to far more people during his lifetime, than did Elijah or Samuel or any other prophet of ancient Israel.

And the radio or TV pastors, such as Bishop Sheen, Dr. Bonnell, Dr. Cavert, Dr. Preston Bradley, Dr. Sneed, Dr. John W. Holland, and similar religious titans of the ether waves, have congregations that reach the millions.

One of the wonders of the modern age is the fact that we can touch so many lives so quickly. But that is a two-edged sword. For the forces of evil can purvey subversive merchandise which degrades mankind, and thus advertises wrong things before millions of boys and girls.

On lecture tours I have always volunteered my services as a chapel speaker at the local high school or college, even though my main address is generally in the evening.

PAUL HARVEY

Politicians Extol Redmen While In Indian Country

In Indian country, a favorite political pitch is to extol the virtues of the redmen and decry Washington's negligence of them.

It is rather like being in favor of motherhood and against sin, a safe premise.

But like most campaign oratory, it carries no binding promise to improve the situation.

At the risk of being categorized with these whose sympathies are for sale, I'd like to scratch the scab of silence off this sensitive subject.

One of the memories I collected during a recent visit to Phoenix, Ariz., I'm counting on keeping. It has to do with the indelible imprint of the Indian on the community.

I would not pretend to an "understanding" of Arizona's 70,000 Indians. That would require more than mere compassion.

But among the Arizona Americans who do understand and genuinely respect the Indians, there is an almost universal disgust with the way Uncle Sam has neglected them.

It is not so much a matter of money as a matter of policy.

The administration of Indian affairs requires understanding more than sympathy.

The ritualistic Hopi Indians, for example, don't want to be modernized, Americanized. These who dwell on the high mesas retain ancient customs, perpetuate pagan religious zeal.

The Apaches, descendants of Geronimo and Cochise, legendary warriors, are today's cattlemen. The Navajos, who weave poetry into silver and blankets and rugs, are vigorously progressive, will respond enthusiastically to the slightest encouragement in that direction.

And along the spectrum between the extremes are the 15 tribes, each with customs and traditions that must be respected if our assistance is to result in making them self-sustaining and contributory citizens rather than wards of the state, spoon-fed like animals in the zoo.

This situation is not resolving itself. There are 25 per cent more Indians today than there were 15 years ago.

And when you begin to appreciate the potential of this basic American race, you instinctively represent the Federal Government's failure to meet this challenge.

Especially since we chase and since the jet plane crash last July that took the life of my oldest boy, I deliver such talks to teen-agers as psychological memorials to his memory.

Thus, Dr. Horton took me over to speak to the 1,200 students at Boca Ciega High School.

I gave them my usual address entitled "Be a Good Ape," in which I urged them to imitate only the good traits of their heroes and heroines and not run amok regarding bad habits such as smoking and drinking.

Just because an occasional successful athlete or doctor or editor or business man is addicted to such nuisance habits, teen-agers should not ape those same bad traits.

Before leaving the high school, Dr. Horton urged me to visit the music room where Christine Baker was drilling a chorus of 80 voices.

The sang a couple of numbers superbly. Miss Baker is a live-wire, sparkling with energy and efficient leadership. She had perfect rapport.

The 80 voices followed her with the synchronization and harmony of a double play combination in baseball or a perfect Notre Dame football end run.

As a psychologist, I relish this interplay of personalities between a vivacious leader and a dynamic responding team, as much as the sheer harmony of the music itself.

And I reminded the chorus that they would probably draw richer dividends throughout later life on their music, than on math or geography or history.

"Music," said John Erskine, "is the only language in which you cannot say a mean or sarcastic thing."

That is very true. And music is the international language which, via church hymns, can bind Russians and Americans, Chinese and Hottentots together faster than any other medium.

If more people would vent their emotions via song or instrumental music, we'd have fewer peptic ulcers and spastic colons!

For music permits us to experience an emotional catharsis and thus reduce inner physiological tensions.

Music teachers deserve far more credit than they have thus far received!

around the world into the musty corners of civilization, supplying indoor plumbing to Patagonia, lavishing our goods and services on thankless persons a world away.

A recent Point Four program for these seems to me to be a first responsibility.

Unless we are to stand before the world court of public opinion and, for all our vulgar, extravagant effort to buy that jury, find ourselves judged guilty of hypocrisy.

Army Cancels Junket To Derby For Solons

WASHINGTON, April 12 (UP)—The Army abruptly cancelled plans today to take congressmen to Kentucky for a military show on the weekend of the Kentucky Derby.

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said he scratched the plan after demonstrations at Ft. Knox because its "serious purpose has been so distorted by being associated" with the horse race at one day after the House had passed a bill by Engle calling for more stringent restrictions on military use of hunting and fishing preserves.

Engle said he would not draw any conclusion from Hart's letter until the Air Force had an opportunity to answer the charges. Twining said there would be an immediate investigation.

Hart told Engle he resigned his Air Force job "in protest against Hart made the accusation in a letter to Chairman Clair Engle (D-Calif.) of the House Interior committee, Engle called the charge "very serious."

Twining, air chief of staff and chairman designate of the joint chiefs, said he did attend a conference in Alaska last year and did do some hunting. But he denied he "violated any laws pertaining to the use of government equipment or any game laws."

It was disclosed two days ago that Brucker had invited a selected group of congressmen to witness a demonstration at Ft. Knox May 3-4.

He offered them free transportation, lodging and meals and arranged special return transportation for those who wanted to stay around for the running of the derby May 4.

Brucker denied it amounted to a trip to the derby at taxpayer expense, but a number of congressmen chose to view it that way, in the face of mounting protests, he called the whole thing off.

One of the protests came from Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) of the House Military Appropriations subcommittee. He said the Army had jockeyed it self into a position where it might suffer budget cuts.

The charges involving the Air Force hunting trip came to light one day after the House had passed a bill by Engle calling for more stringent restrictions on military use of hunting and fishing preserves.

City Sales Tax Will Not Slash Utility Rates

A one-cent sales tax vote petition proposing that Monroe utility rates be decreased would have no bearing "whatsoever" on the present rates, Clark C. Boardman, chairman of the Utilities Commission, said last night.

Boardman said the rates were based on cost of service and "not a petition" and that they were designed to pay the power system's way.

Petitions calling for the one-cent sales tax election also request that if the tax were passed, utility rates would be decreased.

"Absolutely not, we would not consider reducing our present rates," Boardman said.

He said he told the petition group before the petitions began circulating that the Commission would not consider the reduction.

"Utility rates were not raised for the small consumer," Boardman stated. "We raised the rates in the higher user brackets only."

"I would like to see the rates lower myself, but the scale had to be put up to place the system on a paying basis," Boardman said.

Petitions are circulating on DeSiard Street and yesterday gained approximately 100 signatures. The group will present the petitions again on DeSiard today.

"Our rates have nothing to do with the petition," Boardman said. "I told the group from the start that we could not consider a reduction."

The petitions request the City Council to call a second tax election and that proceeds from the tax — if passed — go to past due accounts and civic improvement. They request the utility reductions, also.

Group chairman Martin L. Coleman, Jr., previously estimated 2,000 signatures had been obtained, but Mayor W. L. Jacks Howard said "officially" that Coleman's figure would not be enough.

"The petitions being circulated would not have any bearing whatsoever on the rates," Boardman said.

He said the Utilities Commission would not consider the request.

Ross Acting Wisner High Principal

WINNSBORO, April 12 (Special)—The Franklin Parish School Board appointed Hubert J. Ross, assistant principal of the Wisner High School, as acting principal for the balance of the year. The action was taken at the board's regular meeting today.

Ross was relieving Walter J. Pierson, principal of the Wisner School for the past 15 years, who is taking sabbatical leave due to illness.

"Ross has proven his ability as a school principal and has been appointed as a regular principal of the Wisner School for the 1957-58 school year," A. J. Ensminger, board member of Ward One where Wisner is located, said.

He is a graduate of Northwestern State College and received his masters degree at Mississippi State College. He is a native of Pleasant Hill, La., and became a member of the Wisner faculty in January 1942.

In September 1942, he was appointed assistant principal and has served in that capacity since that time.

A petition asking for the removal of Miss Helen Glasgow as teacher at the school was not presented before the board as earlier reports had stated.

Educators, Solons Hold Discussions

Sen. F. E. Cole of Many last night said a group of North Louisiana educators were "cooperative" yesterday when confronted with improved administration proposals presented by a legislative subcommittee here.

Plans to save up to $300 million by 1971 with a change in the administration of the higher education program in Louisiana were discussed at Northeast State College.

The meeting was not opened to the press, however, and Cole declined to comment on a proposal to remove higher education from control of the State Board of Education and set up an independent board to direct all colleges except L.S.U.

However, Cole pointed out that the Louisiana legislature "has become a policy-making body."

"In some cases we've told them what they can teach and what they can't," he said.

Cole, who is chairman of the education committee of the senate, met with Pres. Lewis C. Slater of Northeast, Pres. Joe Troup of Louisiana Tech and Pres. John Kyser of Northwestern State College.

Pres. Slater said after the meeting that he would "follow the mandates" of the legislature.

Cole said the findings of the State Commission on Higher Education were discussed at the meeting. The commission was organized in 1954 to study ways of saving funds in the higher education program.

The Many senator did not comment on how the savings could be made, but explained generally that "various institutions would be coordinated in their educational efforts."

A similar subcommittee met in Lafayette yesterday. Cole said the subcommittee would finish its work here today. Sen. Sylvan Friedman of Natchez, and Rep. E. H. Haynes of Natchitoches parish were scheduled to work with him.

He said it was the first such meeting with North Louisiana educators. "They were cooperative," he said.

GULF OIL LANDS

Gremillion Seeks Dispute Rehearing

BATON ROUGE, April 12 (Special)—The question is whether a private person can hold title to navigable waterbottoms in an open ownership dispute involving 6,428 acres in Grand Bay, Plaquemine Parish.

The case is the California Co. vs. Isaac R. Price, New Orleans, and the state of Louisiana.

At stake is approximately $240,000 on deposit with the court pending settlement.

The question is whether a private person can hold title to navigable waterbottoms in an open ownership dispute involving 6,428 acres in Grand Bay, Plaquemine Parish. The state argues it alone holds title to such lands, holding them in trust for all citizens.

Gremillion said if current court rulings stand, "the state will have lost more than half a million dollars in oil royalties from waterbottoms which a majority of the Supreme Court acknowledges cannot be privately owned."

The California Co., which operates in Grand Bay, filed an original 1953 lawsuit against Price, who bought claims from heirs of the late John Beckwith, original title claimant in the Grand Bay area. The oil company sought to relieve itself of the responsibility of paying both the state and private claimant.

The Supreme Court at that time held Price and co-defendants did own the approximately $340,000 then on deposit, and the money was distributed to Price and his group.

The first Price suit, as it is known, involved royalties from eight wells in Grand Bay. A second suit was filed by the California Co. A year later, covering seven other wells and $240,000 was placed on deposit with the court pending settlement.

Last week the Supreme Court ruled that the same decision governing the original Price case holds for the second Price case because of legal technicalities, although Gremillion contends "the majority of this court, as now constituted, is of the opinion that the decision in the first Price case was erroneous."

In his application for rehearing, Gremillion said the original title, "held to be beyond attack by this court in the first Price case, was a title that had its inception in fraud, and, a title that has been maintained by fraud."

The attorney general said the rehearing has been asked because the state does not feel the court should perpetuate an erroneous decision on legal technicalities.

Three Seriously Injured In Car, Train Accident

BASTROP, April 12 (Special)—Three persons were seriously injured in a wreck here about noon today when a car slammed into the side of the train.

Hospitalized at Garner Clinic are Ernest Smith, 70, right arm and head injury, and possible internal injuries, Buddy Sims, 46, lacerations of the head and possible back injury, both of Bastrop, and John Holstein, 38, Negro of Collinston, left leg broken and lacerated hands.

Smith, driving the auto, was headed northwest on Washington Street, when it collided broadside with a diesel engine Missouri Pacific train going north. Chief of Police Ray Sibley said.

Holstein was standing on the front of the train, the police chief added, when the accident occurred.

Chief Sibley quoted A. G. Tarver, engineer, as saying "the car appeared to be going fast."

Smith's car was dragged a short distance up the track and the right side was extensively damaged, he added.

The injured men were taken to the clinic by Blackwell and Golden Funeral Home ambulances.

Army Cancels Junket To Derby For Solons

WASHINGTON, April 12 (UP)—The Army abruptly cancelled plans today to take congressmen to Kentucky for a military show on the weekend of the Kentucky Derby.

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said he scratched the author demonstrations at Ft. Knox because its "serious purpose has been so distorted by being associated" with the horse race at Louisville.

As this controversy was being left at the post, a new one boiled up over alleged hunting trips by Air Force officers.

Keith Hart, a former Air Force employe in Alaska, charged that Gen. Nathan F. Twining and other Air Force brass were treated to a hunting trip in the Yukon country last year under the pretense of holding a strategy conference. Hart made the accusation in a letter to Chairman Clair Engle (D-Calif.) of the House Interior committee. Engle called the charge "very serious."

Twining, air chief of staff and chairman designate of the joint chiefs, said he did attend a conference in Alaska last year and did do some hunting. But he denied he "violated any laws pertaining to the use of government equipment or any game laws."

It was disclosed two days ago that Brucker had invited a selected group of congressmen to witness a demonstration at Ft. Knox May 3-4.

He offered them free transportation, lodging and meals and arranged special return transportation for those who wanted to stay around for the running of the derby May 4.

Brucker denied it amounted to a trip to the derby at taxpayer expense, but a number of congressmen chose to view it that way. In the face of mounting protests, he called the whole thing off.

One of the protests came from Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) of the House Military Appropriations subcommittee. He said the Army had jockeyed itself into a position where it might suffer budget cuts.

The charges involving the Air Force hunting trip came to light one day after the House had passed a bill by Engle calling for more stringent restrictions on military use of hunting and fishing preserves.

Engle said he would not draw any conclusion from Hart's letter until the Air Force had an opportunity to answer the charges. Twining said there would be an immediate investigation.

Hart told Engle he resigned his Air Force job "in protest against flagrant disregard for Alaska's resources by certain high ranking Air Force officers."

City Sales Tax Will Not Slash Utility Rates

A one-cent sales tax vote petition proposing that Monroe utility rates be decreased would have no bearing "whatsoever" on the present rates, Clark C. Boardman, chairman of the Utilities Commission, said last night.

Boardman said the rates were based on cost of service and "not a petition" and that they were designed to pay the power system's way.

Petitions calling for the one-cent sales tax election also request that if the tax were passed, utility rates would be decreased.

"Absolutely not, we would not consider reducing our present rates," Boardman said.

He said he told the petition group before the petitions began circulating that the Commission would not consider the reduction.

"Utility rates were not raised for the small consumer," Boardman stated. "We raised the rates in the higher user brackets only."

"I would like to see the rates lower myself, but the scale had to be put up to place the system on a paying basis," Boardman said.

Petitions are circulated on DeSiard Street and yesterday gained approximately 100 signatures. The group will present the petitions again on DeSiard today.

"Our rates have nothing to do with the petition," Boardman said. "I told the group from the start that we could not consider a reduction."

The petitions request the City Council to call a second tax election and that proceeds from the tax — if passed — go to past due accounts and civic improvement. They request the utility reductions, also.

Group chairman Martin L. Coleman, Jr. previously estimated 2,000 signatures had been obtained, but Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard said "unofficially" that Coleman's figure would not be enough.

"The petitions being circulated would not have any bearing whatsoever on the rates," Boardman said.

He said the Utilities Commission would not consider the request.

Ross Acting Wisner High Principal

WINNSBORO, April 12 (Special)—The Franklin Parish School Board appointed Hubert J. Ross, assistant principal of the Wisner High School, as acting principal for the balance of the year. The action was taken at the board's regular meeting today.

Ross was relieving Walter J. Pierson, principal of the Wisner School for the past 15 years, who is taking sabbatical leave due to illness.

"Ross has proven his ability as a school principal and has also been appointed as a regular principal of the Wisner School for the 1957-58 school year," A. J. Ensminger, board member of Ward One where Wisner is located, said.

He is a graduate of Northwestern State College and received his masters degree at Mississippi State College. He is a native of Pleasant Hill, La., and became a member of the Wisner faculty in January 1942.

In September 1942, he was appointed assistant principal and has served in that capacity since that time.

A petition asking for the removal of Miss Helen Glasgow as teacher at the school was not presented before the board as earlier reports had stated.

Sen. F. E. Cole of Many last night said a group of North Louisiana educators were "cooperative" yesterday when confronted with improved administration proposals presented by a legislative subcommittee here.

Plans to save up to $300 million by 1971 with a change in the administration of the higher education program in Louisiana were discussed at Northeast State College.

The meeting was not opened to the press, however, and Cole declined to comment on a proposal to remove higher education from control of the State Board of Education and set up an independent board to direct all colleges except LSU.

However, Cole pointed out that the Louisiana legislature "has become a policy-making body."

"In some cases we've told them what they can teach and what they can't," he said.

Cole, who is chairman of the education committee of the senate, met with Pres. Lewis C. Slater of Northeast, Pres. Joe Ropp of Louisiana Tech and Pres. John Kyser of Northwestern State College.

Pres. Slater said after the meeting that he would "follow the mandates" of the legislature.

Cole said the findings of the State Commission on Higher Education were discussed at the meeting. The commission was organized in 1954 to study ways of saving funds in the higher education program.

The Many senator did not comment on how the savings could be made, but explained generally that "various institutions would be coordinated in their educational efforts."

A similar subcommittee met in Lafayette yesterday. Cole said the subcommittee would finish its work here today. Sen. Sylvan Friedman of Natchez, and Rep. E. H. Haynes of Natchitoches parish were scheduled to work with him.

"The purpose of our meeting here was to feel the pulse of the people connected with education as to the feasibility of carrying out some of those programs," Cole explained.

LENTEN GUIDEPOSTS

Ordeal

By John L. Sherrill

Saturday night, April 30, 1953, at 8:45 in the evening, a 15-year-old high school student named Billy Blankenship left his home at 3454 Fenton Avenue, Bronx, New York.

Billy raced down the stairs from his family's fourth-floor apartment; met a friend, Salvatore Siciliano outside the apartment. The boys set out for a neighborhood movie.

Ten minutes later Billy Blankenship was shot to death.

Billy and Salvatore got as far as a vacant lot full of weeds, broken glass, heaven trees. Five boys rode up on bicycles.

The five boys wore black leather, zipper jackets trimmed in yellow. There were pictures of Indians on their jackets, signifying their membership in a street gang known as the Navajos. The Navajos stopped Billy and Salvatore.

His Own Neighborhood

"What are you doing in this neighborhood?" one of the boys asked Billy. Billy didn't understand. He was in his own neighborhood.

"I don't know what you mean." "Aren't you a member of the Golden Guineas?" The Golden Guineas were another street gang, rivals of the Navajos.

"No," Billy said.

"Come here!"

The five boys dragged Billy aside, shoved him into the vacant lot, asked more questions.

One of the boys pulled out a gun, a .32 caliber Beretta. The boy held the gun against Billy's left arm, pulled the trigger. The bullet passed through Billy's arm and hit his heart.

Died Alone

The boys fled. Salvatore ran to telephone the police. While he was gone, Billy Blankenship died among the weeds and broken glass and heaven trees.

This is the story of the four days that followed. During these four days, there were two funerals for Billy — as there sometimes are when a person has many friends in two different towns.

For three of these four days, Billy's father faced a crisis. He felt all alone, unable to find help from his wife, Helen, because she was as much in need of comfort as he was; unable to find help from his friends, because none of his friends had had a son murdered and could not know what his grief was like; unable to find help from his religion, because he did not believe in the kind of a God who would reach down, give personal help to individuals.

At first, William Blankenship simply found no help at all.

Nearly Cracked

By the night before Billy's second funeral, which was to be held in Tamaqua, Pennsylvania, where Billy was born, William Blankenship had very nearly cracked under the strain.

Blankenship let his mind wander back to his secure, younger days in North Carolina where he graduated from the University at Chapel Hill.

He had wanted to be a teacher. But he could make only 30 cents a day; so he went out into industry instead, as a research chemist with the International Latex Corporation. But he never lost his desire to teach.

All around him in the macon apartment was the proof: the books. Every time one of the boys showed a spark of interest in a new field, William Blankenship bought all the books he could find on the subject. Then in the evening, while Mrs. Blankenship was cleaning up the dishes, the men in the family read aloud. They rotated from one boy to the next.

First Doug, who was 17, then Billy, who was 15, then Randy, 11, Gary, who was just 6, listened.

Played Football

But with it all, Billy was no bookworm. He was a good football player at school; he was always popular at neighborhood dances.

All this pleased William Blankenship. By working with his boys inside the home, he thought he was doing his best to combat juvenile delinquency.

But that was not all he had done. He was president of a local civic group, the Bronxville Civic League, that organized hundreds of fathers to clean up vacant lots for ball fields.

He helped organize community dances, saw that they were properly supervised. He fought for and got better lights on the dark, side streets.

Ethical Background

Blankenship had raised his sons to tell the truth. He had given them a solid ethical background based on religion. He took his family to church when he could, the Presbyterian Church near the corner where Billy was killed.

But beyond that he felt religion was best taught at home.

So he bought books on religion. Thinking about religion, William Blankenship realized suddenly that his own religion had not been much help to him in these past days. What good did it do to know statistics about religion — when, . . . there was no help in statistics. William Blankenship was a strong, vigorous man. But that night he cried.

The funeral chapel at Tamaqua is made of gray fieldstone. It was crowded with friends of the Blankenships who came as an expression of their shared grief.

Couldn't Go In

William and Helen Blankenship were standing alone outside the main chapel, waiting to go in. Suddenly Helen Blankenship spoke. "I can't," she said. She looked at her husband and finished the sentence with her eyes.

They had reached the end. They could not go to this second funeral of their son.

Then, in his desperation, William Blankenship did what for him was a strange thing, almost out of character. There, outside the chapel, he got down on his knees.

It had been years since William Blankenship had been on his knees. But that morning in the blue hills of Pennsylvania, he took Helen's hand. And together they said a simple prayer.

It seemed to them that words came to their lips almost simultaneously. While they knelt, help, at last, did come, and shortly after, they arose and went to kneel at Billy's bier.

Will Tell It Now

For a long time William Blankenship refused to tell anybody what that prayer was. But he is willing to talk about it now, because in that moment he found a religion with a God that was more than an impersonal, creative force.

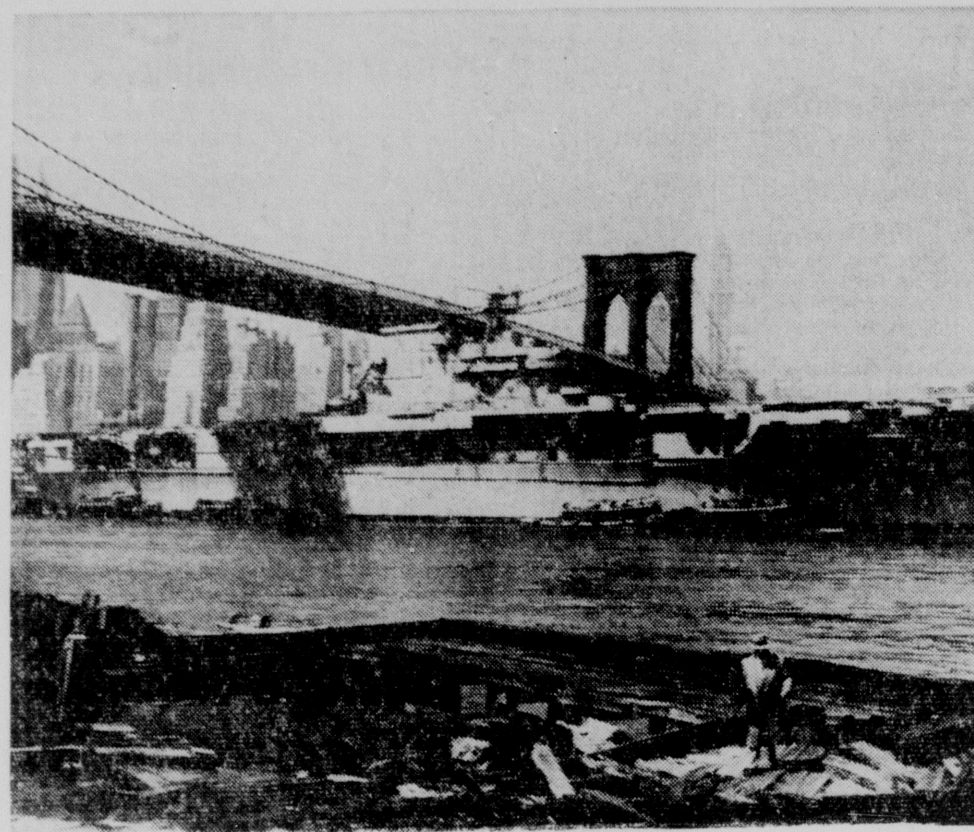

In that moment, William Blankenship found a God who could give help to individuals in time of trouble.

As William and Helen Blankenship knelt, they said simply, "God, there's such a thing as a grief no human being can help."

They were silent a while, then continued, "But You can help," they said. "You understand. Your son was murdered, too."

AUSTIN, April 12 (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel today vetoed a bill aimed at reducing license fees on manufacturers of beer — regardless of the number of breweries operated—to $500.

Daniel pointed out the present law provides for a license fee of $300 for one brewery, a fee of $10,000 for a second brewery operated

It was the first bill vetoed by Daniel.

Japanese Leader Visits Crossett

CROSSETT, April 12, (Special) —A Japanese leader, who is touring America as part of the governmental affairs institute foreign leaders exchange program is a Crossett visitor.

Shunkichi Kajikawa, is director of public safety investigation bureau of Japan, which is an agent cy roughly comparable to the U. S. federal bureau of investigation. Kajikawa was accompanied to Crossett by James J. Wickel, his interpreter from the United States state department.

During his three-day stay in Crossett Kajikawa will be taken on a tour of the city, visit in local homes, and be entertained at various local functions. He was guest of honor at the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Crossett Rotary Club and will visit here until Sunday, when he will depart for Washington before returning to his home land.

This is the second year that Crossett has been selected by the government affairs institute to host a foreign visitor. Last year a German attorney, Dr. Mandelartz, was a guest here. Crossett is the smallest city in the United States to be included on the nationwide tour of the foreign leader.

New Hospitals Unneeded, Says Group In Miss.

GREENWOOD, Miss., April 12 (UP)—New charity hospitals should not be necessary in north Mississippi, the steering committee for formation of the Mississippi Association of Hospital Governing Boards reported yesterday.

In a message prepared for legislators and state authorities, the committee said such hospitals would not be necessary if there were better state laws governing care of indigent patients, more realistic allowances for state-aid charity patients, and assistance in providing additional beds in existing hospitals.

The committee was named at a meeting in Cleveland last week of 50 hospital trustees of north Mississippi. Plans for a statewide meeting to perfect the association were made.

'Harold Burley' Day To Be Held

FERRIDAY, April 12 (Special) —Ferriday Little Boys League, Inc., and the Monterey Parent-Teachers Association has declared Friday, April 19 as "Harold Burley" Day.

In appreciation for the work

Turkey Season Opens Today In Ashley County

CROSSETT, April 12, (Special) —Turkey season, the only hunting open to Arkansas sportsmen in the spring, will open tomorrow and continue until April 20, inclusive, Ashley County game Warden Gaston Higgenbotham and Arthur Kelley, have announced.

As in the case of deer, Ashley County's vast game reserve has made the county a favorite for turkey hunters.

The wardens reminded sportsmen that no dogs are allowed in turkey hunting; that the birds may not be shot over a water hole, not more than 3-shell capacity guns may be used; and that it is unlawful to bait an area.

Drew County will be closed to turkey hunting until further notice because of re-stocking program now underway in the area, the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission has made known.

The Commission is experimenting with a strain of wild turkeys that have proven adaptable to Pennsylvania forests where 17,000 birds were killed in 1956. Arkansas will soon receive 1,000 eggs of the Pennsylvania species, and the Commission has arranged for their hatching care. The same rearing and release procedures as successfully used in Pennsylvania will be followed in Arkansas.

It is pointed out by the commission that, while it is questionable whether or no the birds will "catch on" in Arkansas, the experiment is worth a try because of the low turkey population in many counties.

that Harold Burley has done with the Ferriday Little Boys League, Inc., as manager of the Webber Ford-Western Auto Red Sox since the organization of the league, they will present the "Georgia Jubilee Minstrel," with the proceeds going into a Harold Burley Hospital Fund.

The minstrel will be presented at the Ferriday High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. by members of the Monterey P.T.A. with some side acts of local talent thrown in. Tickets will be sold.

Burley has been a patient at the Lady of the Lake Hospital and has been seriously ill for several weeks. He has shown improvement and was returned to his home at Ferriday Wednesday, although he is still confined to his bed.

Advance tickets will be on sale and also tickets at the door.

Mrs. Barham has announced that for the next alert, the Oak Ridge post will be transported to Shreveport to the Filter Center to tour it and learn the operations of calls being received and reported.

Members present were Joe Wayne Johnston, Glen Lee Greene, Jr., Sterling Elizabeth Files, Marcia Files, Roxie Greene, Johnny McDuffie, Jerry Greene, Nancy Files, Linda Files, Elizabeth McNery, Mary Allen Files, Joe Grice Cabuck, Neil Mott, Clint Shepard, Homer Gee, Virginia Sue Shepard, Sarah Gee, Mrs. W. air conditioning!

know why?

"My wife likes the smooth, quiet operation of GAS air conditioning. And she knows that dry, filtered fresh air . . . free of pollen and dust . . . uniformly cools every room in the house. There's never a blast of cold air! No hot spots!

"Now, me, I like the idea of having a choice of a single, compact unit for both summer cooling and winter heating, or a summer air conditioner that can be installed either inside or outside. Best of all, GAS air conditioning equipment is inexpensive to operate . . . much less than other types. Ask your architect or builder about air conditioning with NATURAL GAS. It's the best!"

However, truck crops in north central and northeast Texas were threatened, and, in Illinois, officials feared the sub-freezing cold snap had caused severe damage to the state's southern peach crop.

The U. S. weather bureau warned of possible heavy snow squalls Friday night along the Great Lakes shores in Pennsylvania and New York, plus severe icing in eastern New Mexico, northern Texas and southern Oklahoma. A possible three to six inches of snow were forecast for northwest Arkansas in a 10-day country, and freezing rain could stretch into extreme north Alabama and Mississippi overnight, forecasters said.

A news conference to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's plan to acquire tactical atomic weapons along with the other NATO allies, Olenhauer said this would only endanger German security. He evaded a direct answer to a question whether he would refuse A-weapons should his party come to power in next September's election.

But Adenauer, in a speech to night, sternly refused to abandon the plans he announced last week. He said the decision whether Germany renounced atomic defense was for the nation's political and not for the scientists had not consulted him before issuing their statement.

The flareup followed a barrage of warnings from Moscow to West European, Middle Eastern and North African nations that they would face destruction if they permitted atomic installations to be used on their soil in war.

The latest warning went to Iceland. Similar threats have been sounded by Soviet Premier Bulganin, the Soviet Foreign Ministry in the Moscow radio against Britain, West Germany, the Netherlands, Norway, Denmark, Greece, Turkey, Libya, Morocco, Tunisia, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Israel.

But the Western nations went ahead with their plans to strengthen their defensive position with atomic weapons.

A spokesman for the U. S. delegation at NATO in Paris announced that its North Atlantic allies will be supplied with American guided missiles — Nike, Matadors and Honest Johns — by June 30. These missiles can be used as atomic warheads, but the warheads themselves cannot be released to foreign nations under U. S. law.

Germany is not permitted by treaty with her NATO partners to develop atomic arms on her own, but she could receive them from her allies.

Dutch Defense Minister Cornelis Staf said the Dutch army will get Honest John rockets within a year, and that the air force will be equipped to launch guided missiles.

Danish Premier H. C. Hansen announced that Denmark will reject the Russian warning.

basis whereas office clerks are paid on a 40-hour a week basis. It was also speculated that today would be the first and last of the closing.

Larger offices, it was pointed out, have less rural carriers and are therefore forced into either hiring additional clerks or paying overtime to handle the mail on Monday.

No rebuttals were reported to the closing in Northeast Louisiana, but the Associated Press said request for an injunction against Postmaster E. L. Baker of Detroit had failed.

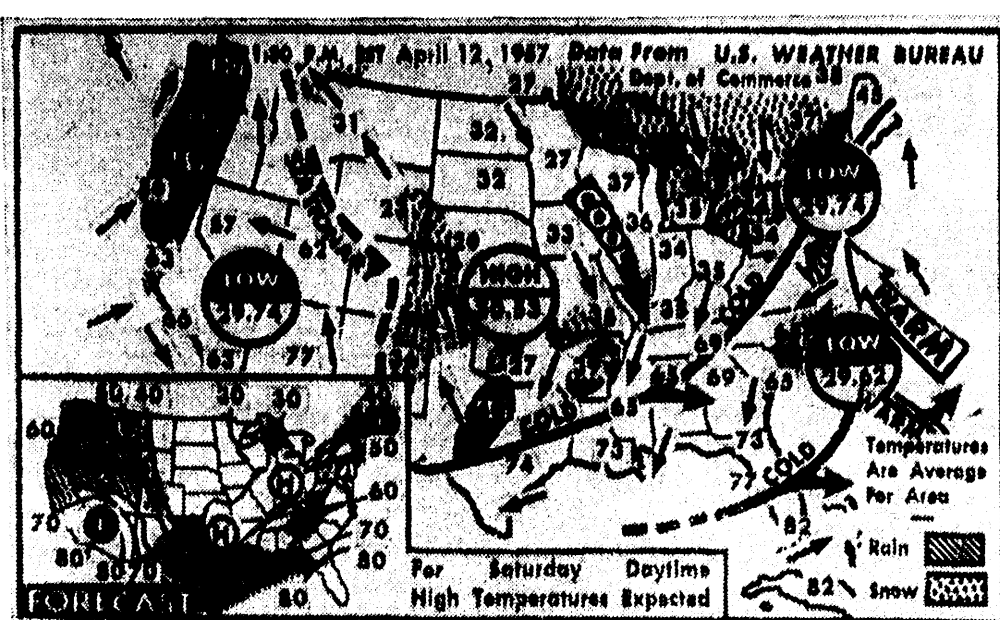

The Associated Press said the move to prohibit Baker from carrying out orders to cut postal services was denied yesterday by U. S. Dist. Judge Thomas P. Thornton.

Thornton held since Postmaster General Summerfield was named a defendant with Baker and had not been served with notice of the action he could not issue an injunction.

The Detroit branch of the National Assn. of Letter Carriers, however, had completed plans yesterday to handle incoming and outgoing mail even though their windows would be closed.

It was speculated that Congress' tentative plans of offering $41 million to the Post Office Department would end the Saturday closing.

Many fear there will be a depression soon and they will again have to work for what they're worth.

WEATHER FORECAST

Rain is expected Saturday over Gulf Coast, lower Mississippi Valley, Texas, and from central California to Pacific northwest and east to Great Plateau. Snow is expected in Cascades, Sierras, northern and central Rockies, Nebraska, northern Lakes, and central and northern Appalachians. It will be warmer in central and northern Plains; colder over east coast and Gulf coast. (AP Wirephoto Map) just around the block, for example. Thus a BIKE may or may not be good exercise.

10. LESS not LOSS. Complete LOSS of "vitality needed" rations MUST mean disaster. LESS rations means lowered physical efficiency, which MAY mean disaster.

13. RUST not DUST. In the design of delicate machinery, DUST is BARGAINED FOR; the machinery is either made to work regardless of dust, or dust-proofed. RUST is not allowed for.

15. SIDE not SITE. A SITE and the SIZE are of importance. VIBEREVER you are building. In every fashionable street, one SIDE is always more important than the other.

20. HATE is better than HAVE. Most men today know that they HAVE to pay taxes, otherwise the wheels of the nation's administration could not run; and most men HAVE become reconciled to it, arises as it often does, this data. The ones who "disrupt the harmony" are those who HATE to pay taxes to the flag chairman of the Chief Tusquahona chapter of the order named in West Monroe.

22. BANK is more apt than BANK to the idea of the clue. One hardly goes to the BANK with any particular thoughts of how nice and warm it is inside.

23. TEE not TOE. TIE is not important here. He could use his TOE and probably get away with it even though someone "were looking," particularly if winter playing rules were in force. He could only use his TEE if "no one was looking."

24. NAME of POETS, yes; but for POEMS, "titles" is the word rather than "names."

CLUES DOWN:

2. ATTITUDE not ALTITUDE. Change of ALTITUDE, strictly as such, has NO noticeable effect. It is the change of air pressure, or of effective gravity that brings physical reactions.

3. PIPE not PILE. PIKE or PINE are remote. A water PIPE has to withstand high water pressure. A PILE sunk in water is designed to withstand stresses and strains set up by currents, etc., but this is not really what is meant by the term "water pressure." Increase in "water pressure" is only moderate at the bottom of a PILE, not "a good deal of."

4. CLAMP not CLASP. A CLAMP holds something rigidly "in position," while a CLASP merely establishes a connection, and holds something together perhaps quite loosely and not what one would call "in position."

11. SEEM not SEEK. SEEK means "try" in this usage. But from merely TRYING to be helpful, policemen usually SEEM to BE helpful.

19. GET not LETS. SETS and WETS are not clear. Certainly no woman is well disposed towards a man who GETS her down. Many a woman, on the other hand, will love a man no matter how much he LETS her down.

21. FEW not NEW. "NEW movies" means NEW movies IN GENERAL; but it is only reasonable to say that some, indeed FEW, are EAGERLY looked forward to.

ing film from Dallas to Shreveport, La.

Murphy said no more arrests are expected. He said the films were produced and processed in the Dallas area and then distributed across the nation.

He said many actors in the films were identified from photographs on file in the Dallas police and sheriff's offices. He described Parr as a "wholesaler" and the others as "retailers."

The indictments resulted from raids made March 1 on a Lake Dallas cottage in which $15,000 worth of movie processing equipment and 37 master negative reels of obscene movies were seized.

Conviction on the charges could bring maximum penalties of five years in prison or fines up to $5,000, or both, Murphy said.

He is receiving treatment in the New Orleans hospital and will be fitted with a cast. Unless this is done, there will be little hope that he can ever walk again.

His parents will greatly appreciate if many Monroe people and others will send birthday cards to him in Touro Infirmary, New Orleans, for next week, April 16, which is his 16th birthday.

C. B. Braun, right hand man of Judge William Harper, together with Mrs. Braun, had occasion to go to Dallas and were there last week when the tornado struck.

He said that suddenly the rain came down terrifically, and a vast funnel shaped cloud zoomed earthward, but he explains that it did not hit instantly and that many had time to dodge the spot where it crashed to earth destroying everything in its path. Had its descent been like a lightning flash for quickness, it would have cost far more lives, he said.

All told about 10 blocks square were levelled to the earth, and 11 lives are reported blotted out. It was an experience that Mr. Braun does not care to see repeated.

Guilty Verdict Returned In Whatley Trial

derful job. "I appreciate their efforts very much," Whatley said.

SENTENCE LATER

Manslaughter in Louisiana carries a maximum penalty of 21 years at hard labor. Sentence of 21 Whatley will not be pronounced until a future date.

In charging the jury prior to their retirement, Judge Frank Voelker warned them that they must weigh all the evidence carefully, establish the man's guilt "beyond a reasonable shadow of a doubt" before returning a verdict of guilty, and briefed them on the various verdicts that could be returned in the case.

Whatley appeared neatly dressed as he has throughout the trial—and was very calm and collected.

In his closing remarks to the court, Judge Voelker paid tribute to the manner in which the trial was conducted. He said:

"This trial exemplifies to this court the best features and the highest precepts of the Democratic process. From its inception the entire case has been conducted with due deliberation and with a meticulous adherence to the laws governing such matters."

He further stated that the jury "individually and collectively" had been "most considerate, patient and attentive. Tribute was also paid to the counsel."

Judge Voelker congratulated the district attorney and his assistant and gave special commendation to the defending lawyers—Frank Voelker, Jr., W. B. Ragland, Jr. and C. J. Wylie—and said they received "no remuneration whatsoever for their efforts."

Navarro, a Lake Providence Mexican farmer, was killed when he and Whatley fought on the outside of a local cafe. Allegedly, he was stabbed.

20. HATE is better than HAVE. Most men today know that they HAVE to pay taxes, otherwise the wheels of the nation's administration could not run; and most men HAVE become reconciled to it. The ones who "disrupt the harmony" are those who HATE to pay them and voice and act their dissatisfaction accordingly.

22. BUNK is more apt than BANK to the idea of the clue. One hardly goes to the BANK with any particular thoughts of how nice and warm it is inside.

23. TEE not TOE. TIE is not apt. If "no one was looking" is important here, he could use his TOE and probably get away with it even though someone "were looking," particularly if winter playing rules were in force. He could only use his TEE if "no one was looking."

24. Name of POETS, yes; but for POEMS, "titles" is the word rather than "names."

CLUES DOWN:

2. ATTITUDE not ALTITUDE. Change of ALTITUDE, strictly as such, has NO noticeable effect. It is the change of air pressure, or of effective gravity that brings physical reactions.

3. PIPE not PILE. PIKE or PINE are remote. A water PIPE has to withstand high water pressure. A PILE sunk in water is designed to withstand stresses and strains set up by currents, etc., but this is not really what is meant by the term "water pressure." Increase in "water pressure" is only moderate at the bottom of a PILE, not "a good deal of."

4. CLAMP not CLASP. A CLAMP holds something rigidly "in position," while a CLASP merely establishes a connection, and holds something together perhaps quite loosely and not what one would call "in position."

11. SEEM not SEEK. SEEK means "try" in this usage. But far from merely TRYING to be helpful, policemen usually SEEM to BE helpful.

19. GET not LETS. SETS and WETS are not clear. Certainly no woman is well disposed towards a man who GETS her down. Many a woman, on the other hand, will love a man no matter how much he LETS her down.

21. FEW not NEW. "NEW movies" means NEW movies IN GENERAL; but it is only reasonable to say that some, indeed FEW, are EAGERLY looked forward to.

Our friend, Barr Corry, had considerable recognition the other day with his picture and a view of his tree farm near West Monroe appearing in the Ouachita Citizen. His daughter, Peggy Barr, chances to be a night proof reader on the Morning World. When we congratulated her on the family's tree farm, she acted puzzled. Then we told of the news item that had appeared. She was further mystified.

We just had to activate her on the doings in her family circle. It amused us to think that she had failed to keep up with her dad's doings.

It is nothing to see youngsters ride to and from school on bicycles, but its many a year since we have seen a full grown man resorting to the once popular practice. Bicycles are handy things but seems like they are being almost forgotten when it comes to adult age riding.

Friends of Wayne Ikard, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ikard of Waverly, who is now in the Touro Infirmary in New Orleans, receiving polio treatment, are planning to send birthday cards to him to cheer his 16th birthday which will be April 16.

He was a pupil in the Waverly High School when stricken. At first it was not believed to be polio but later it was so diagnosed.

He is receiving treatment in the New Orleans hospital and will be fitted with a cast. Unless this is done, there will be little hope that he can ever walk again.

His parents will greatly appreciate if many Monroe people and others will send birthday cards to him in Touro Infirmary, New Orleans, for next week, April 16, which is his 16th birthday.

C. B. Braun, right hand man of Judge William Harper, together with Mrs. Braun, had occasion to go to Dallas and were there last week when the tornado struck. He said that suddenly the rain came down terrifically, and a vast funnel shaped cloud zoomed earthward, but he explains that it did not hit instantly and that many had time to dodge the spot where it crashed to earth destroying everything in its path. Had its descent been like a lightning flash for quickness, it would have cost far more lives, he said.

All told about 10 blocks square were levelled to the earth, and 11 lives are reported blotted out. It was an experience that Mr. Braun does not care to see repeated.

Obscene Film Ring Broken By Police

ing film from Dallas to Shreveport, La.

PRODUCED IN DALLAS

Murphy said no more arrests are expected. He said the films were produced and processed in the Dallas area and then distributed across the nation.

He said many actors in the films were identified from photographs on file in the Dallas police and sheriff's offices. He described Parr as a "wholesaler" and the others as "retailers."

The indictments resulted from raids made March 1 on a Lake Dallas cottage in which $15,000 worth of movie processing equipment and 37 master negative reels of obscene movies were seized.

Conviction on the charges could bring maximum penalties of five years in prison or fines up to $5,000, or both, Murphy said.

Big Turnout Seen At Chamber Fete

Featured speaker was Chester H. Lauck, a California Oil company executive who is better known to all as "Lum" of "Lum and Abner" radio fame.

Lauck provided many laughs with his homespun wit and humor. On the serious side he spoke of federal control on oil companies and how it curtails their business.

Outgoing president, A. O. Evans, presided at the banquet. He introduced the new officers who were installed at the dinner. Elected to carry on the Chamber work for the next year were J. W. Roberson, president; Ray T. Buice, vice-president; Gordie Roy, treasurer, and George E. Wylie, manager.

A high spot on the program was the presentation of a desk set to A. O. Evans, outgoing president, by his successor, on behalf of the chamber, for his outstanding work during the past year.

The new board of directors elected for the coming year are C. C. Bell, Jr., Ray T. Buice, H. B. Cannon, Charles Chisholm, George Cox, W. G. Haynes, Jr., Tom Hicks, F. C. McConnell, Harvey McDonald, Allan Norris, Percy Nichols, Fred Riser, J. W. Roberson, Gordie Roy, and Leon Sutton.

Guilty Verdict Returned In Whatley Trial

derful job." "I appreciate their efforts very much," Whatley said.

SENTENCE LATER

Manslaughter in Louisiana carries a maximum penalty of 21 years at hard labor. Sentence of 21 Whatley will not be pronounced until a future date.

In charging the jury prior to their retirement, Judge Frank Voelker warned them that they must weigh all the evidence carefully, establish the man's guilt "beyond a reasonable shadow of a doubt" before returning a verdict of guilty, and briefed them on the various verdicts that could be returned in the case.

Whatley appeared neatly dressed — as he has throughout the trial — and was very calm and collected.

In his closing remarks to the court, Judge Voelker paid tribute to the manner in which the trial was conducted. He said:

"This trial exemplifies to this court the best features and the highest precepts of the democratic process. From its inception the entire case has been conducted with due deliberation and with a meticulous adherence to the laws governing such matters."

He further stated that the jury "individually and collectively" had been "most considerate, patient and attentive. Tribute was also paid to the counsel."

Judge Voelker congratulated the district attorney and his assistant and gave special commendation to the defending lawyers—Frank Voelker, Jr., W. B. Ragland, Jr. and C. J. Wylie—and said they received "no remuneration whatsoever for their efforts."

Navarro, a Lake Providence Mexican farmer, was killed when he and Whatley fought on the outside of a local cafe. Allegedly, he was stabbed.

Texas League Will Launch Play Sunday

DALLAS, April 12 (AP) — More than 30,000 are expected to turn out Sunday when the Texas League opens its annual race.

Oklahoma City, which entertains Tulsa, wasn't sure about how many fans it might draw. There is a snow storm at Oklahoma City and only a slight warmup is expected Sunday. If the weather is clear Oklahoma City might have 4,000.

The biggest throng is due at Houston where 10,000 are expected to greet the defending league and Dixie Series champions in their opener with Shreveport.

Houston will go to the post an overwhelming favorite to repeat with the pennant. The Buffs have virtually all of their 1956 regulars back.

San Antonio looks for 8,500 when the Missions, also expected to have a stronger ball club, open the campaign against Austin while Dallas thought there might be 8,000 out for its opener with Fort Worth if the weather were favorable. "This cold wave we have is going to hurt interest I'm afraid," said Warner Lewis, general manager of the club that was runner-up to Houston in the 1956 race.

League President Dick Butler was optimistic that there would be a substantial increase in attendance, particularly at San Antonio and Dallas, and he said he expected one of the best balanced races in years.

Shreveport, for instance, has an advance ticket sale of 85,000 which probably is tops for any minor league club. Shreveport drew only 89,000 all last season.

Little League Gets Approval For Big Fund

CHICAGO, April 12 (UP) — The nation's little leagues got a go-ahead today to seek a million dollars in contributions to keep the kids' baseball program out of the red.

Delegates to the second annual Little League Congress unanimously approved a "master plan" setting up a million-dollar foundation.

The money, when raised from contributions at the neighborhood level among the 4,100 little leagues will remain intact. Only the interest would be used to wipe out an annual $50,000 deficit incurred in running the program.

P. J. McGovern, president of the little league movement, told the 161 voting delegates that the program has expanded to such a degree that it should now seek self-sufficiency.

The deficit originally was met by the original sponsor of the program, the U.S. Rubber Co.

Clash Again On Ruston's Field Today

By LEMMIE HIGHTOWER
Given an early lead, right-hander Jess Mercer limited the Northeast Louisiana State Indians to six hits here yesterday while his Louisiana Tech mates rapped starter Larry Clements for seven safe blows, including two triples and a double, to take a 7-1 G.S.C. victory.

The clever Tech used a brilliant change-of-pace along with a general mixture from his bag of well-seasoned hurling tactics to keep the Tribe hitless for the first four innings of the duel and then spread their six swats over the remaining stanzas. Not allowing more than two hits or two runners on base in one inning, the snappy moundman never found himself in deep trouble throughout the entire game, and permitted the Tribe's lone run only after he was well-cushioned with a seven-run edge.

Tech's Bulldogs chalked two runs in their opening half of the first inning with Billy Till batting home Bobby Shores on a double and later scoring on Wade Scott's single.

After shortstop Glen Schuler tripled to lift the lid on the second frame and then remained stranded, the Canines exploded again in the third for two more tallies. Shores singled before coming around to the pay-plate on Melvin Colvin's three-bagger. Colvin, later, raced across on an infield out.

Three Northeast errors promoted Tech's biggest uprising, a three-play runfest in the fourth. After reaching first on a walk and stealing two bases outfielder Doug Robertson scored on a two-base error that sent Mercer to second. An infield out moved Mercer to third and he later scored on an error that placed Shores on first. Another swiped base, another miscue, and a one-base swat by Colvin brought through the final marker for the visitors.

Clements tightened his control and poise in the following rounds with Tech being able to get only one player as far as first base. A quick double play erased the runner, Schuler, who reached the initial sack on a single in the eighth.

Northeast's tally came in the fifth segment when James Mock collected the first hit off Mercer, a double down the first base line. A single by Clements brought the left fielder home after he had advanced to third on a ground-out.

Tech's victory gave both teams identical records in conference action, two wins against two losses, with the rival outfits due to clash again today at Ruston. Lefty Gross has been picked to pitch for the Tribe.

TIGERS ROLL ON Ruston Defeated By Neville, 16-1

Terry Reeves and Jim Altick shared a three-hit pitching performance yesterday as the Neville High Tigers repulsed the Ruston Bearcats 16-1, in a district 2-A conference baseball game.

Here, The triumph carried the Tigers to their fourth league triumph against no defeats in their quest to retain the district title they've held since 1951.

Neville lost its bid for a shut-out in the fifth inning when successive bases on balls to P. Shows, Umchurch, D. Shows, and Murphy forced across the lone Ruston run.

Bengal batters banged out ten hits, including a home run by Mickey Verge, who led Neville batting with 3-for-5.

The Tigers' big inning was the third when they showed six runs across on three hits, a base on balls, and three errors, and they scored in every inning except their final turn at bat.

Only Jonesboro-Hodge, still to be played by Neville, stands in the way of perfect league mark for the Monroe club. J.H. is on tap for next week when the district title must be decided.

Four Records For Troutman At Lafayette

LAFAYETTE, La., April 12 (AP)—Baton Rouge High and Don Troutman of Roanoke turned in record performances today to dominate the high school division of the 29th annual Southwestern Relays.

Approximately 1,500 athletes from 88 schools ranging from middle-A to C took part. Colleges and universities will participate tomorrow.

Troutman, competing in the Class C division, broke four records he set last year and was awarded the trophy for being the outstanding trackman. Last year he was the outstanding field man.

While running the 120-yard hurdles in the new low time of 15.9 he pulled a groin muscle but stayed around to turn in a :10.1 for the 100-yard dash, a 46 foot, 4 inch toss with the shot put and a hop-step and jump mark of 17 feet 7 1/2 inches—all records.

The trophy for outstanding field man went to Joe Harris of Baton Rouge, who broke the pole vault record for the triple-A division with a 13 foot 5 1/2 inch mark. The record, set by Baton Rouge in 1938, was 12 feet 4 inches.

The oldest record of the meet was shattered by Baton Rouge's relay team with a timing of 3.5 by Wendell Harris, Bill Dunham, Jim Starnes and Wayne Kohn. The former record, set by Baton Rouge in 1928, was :44.

Derby Talent To Spotlight Racing Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The spotlight is on the 3-year-olds today with several Derby candidates in operation at race tracks in the east, Florida and Kentucky.

The most important event is the $25,000-added Gotham Stakes at Jamaica, where King Hairan, Ambushing, Promised Land and others hook up in a mile and one sixteenth battle.

Federal Hill is the standout colt in the $25,000-added Biscayne Bay Handicap, also a mile and one sixteenth, at Gulfstream Park, while 3-year-olds also will feature the $10,000 Chesapeake Trial at Laurel Park.

The $10,000-added Phoenix Handicap is the feature at Keeneland, but there will be interest in the fourth race, a 6-furlong dash for 3-year-olds. Two second stringers from the Calumet Farm, Whig and Boone Blaze, will be in action while other stars from the stable remain on the bench. Whig and Boone Blaze won in Florida while Calumet's Gen. Duke and Iron Liege were getting the headlines.

Holandes II, Argentine - bred owned by the International stable, is topweighted under 122 pounds for the $15,000-added Robert O'Brien Memorial Handicap at Bay Meadows, San Mateo, Calif. Dino Lozzi's Count Chic and the Jennilinda stable's Battle Dance are next with 117 each, in that mile and one sixteenth affair which drew seven entries.

King Hairan, the Florida flash owned by Leo Edwards and Harry B. Massey, is the probable favorite in the Gotham, having won the Swift Stakes last Saturday. The Bohemia stable's Ambushing finished fast to take third place in the Flatbush Purse Monday at Jamaica. Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Promised Land, victor in the Governors Gold Cup at Bowie last month, is another threat. All three carry 122 pounds. Twelve were entered for the Gotham, and eight are eligible for the May 4 Kentucky Derby.

Clifford Luskky's Federal Hill, the Louisiana Derby winner, meets 10 rival 3-year-olds in the Biscayne Bay, won a year ago by Count Chic, who then took fourth in the Derby at Louisville. Federal Hill carries 126 pounds, with William Helis Jr.'s True Verdict, another Derby eligible, next at 114. E. H. Woods' Roman Request, 109, and J. S. Kelly's We Trust, 112, are other Derby eligibles entered.

Nine were Chesapeake stakes new wags. Only one Derby nominee, the Carolyn K. Stable's Pro-Brandy, is entered in the trial. Pro-Brandy, winner of the 1956 Pimlico Nursery Stakes, carries 124 pounds.

Mrs. Irving Gushen's Star Rover has high weight of 122 pounds for the 6-furlong Phoenix Handicap at Lexington, Ky. The Hasty House farm's Sea O'Eirin is next with 119.

Orsley Resigns Job On Loyola Coaching Staff

NEW ORLEANS, April 12 (AP)—Jack Orsley, who coached the Loyola University basketball team that won the National Intercollegiate (NAIA) championship in 1945, resigned today from the university's coaching staff.

Orsley, who had been coaching the Loyola baseball team, will teach in the public schools of nearby Jefferson Parish in September.

He joined the Loyola staff in 1940 and coached basketball, baseball and track.

Boros Nabs Greensboro Lead

Eight Share Tie For 2nd; Snead Skids

By DON MARTIN

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 12 (UP)—Julius Boros, the Bull Moose from Mid-Pines, N. C., smashed par by five strokes here today to take a four-shot lead at the halfway mark in the $15,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

Boros, who won the National Open in 1952, and the rich Tam O'Shanter pot in 1955, fired an eagle, five birdies and two bogeys to jump ahead of the field, including eight tied for second at 139.

First-day leader Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., carded a one-over-par 71 on the drawn out Sedgefield Resort Country Club course. Defending Champion Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., six-time champ here, carded a pair of 34s for a 68 to go with his opening day 72.

Boros, who quit the tourney trail to play in $1,000 exhibitions following his Tam triumph, bogeyed the first hole when he floated a three iron over the green. He picked up regulation pars on the next three holes, then rolled in an 18-footer for an eagle three on the par five fifth. He hit the green with a four iron on the second shot.

He birdied the sixth with a four-foot putt and he deuced the short seventh with a 15-footer after knocking a two iron straight into the wind. He parred out to make the curve three under.

His next birdie came with a three-footer on 13 and he birdied the 14th when he knocked his six iron one inch from the pin.

The Moose's only slip came on the 17th when he pushed his five iron second to the right of the green and wedged short. He birdied the par five 18th, putting two booming woods on the green.

One other 65 was turned in today by newcomer Howie Johnson of Houston. Johnson put together nines of 32-33 to join the packed group at 139.

Tied for second at 139 were Jim Ferree, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Gardner Dickens Jr., Panama City Beach, Fla.; Martie Furgol, Le-mont, Ill.; Gary Player, Johannesburg, South Africa; Trevor Wilkes, Johannesburg; Al Bessell, Grossinger, N. Y.; Ford and Johnson.

Barrel-shaped Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., shot second-day 70 to pull into a third-place tie with Snead and Stan Leonard of Vancouver, B. C., at 140. Leonard shot a 33-35-68.

The field of 136 professionals and amateurs made hay while the sun shone today and 11 busted par.

Ford, riding the "surge" of his Masters triumph Sunday, complained of his fairway game.

"I either feathered it over the green or short and I couldn't sink a putt," he said.

Snead, who has picked up more than $14,000 in once-a-year visits to North Carolina, cracked "I'm within shooting distance now. Give me another 68 and they'll be shooting at me."

The field was sliced to the low 60 and ties with the cut-off point set at 132, 12 strokes over par.

Redlegs Sell Tempermental Meyer To Sox

WASHINGTON, April 12 (UP)—Russ Meyer, the 33-year-old right-handed pitcher who claims he finally has learned to control his explosive temper, today was sold to the Boston Red Sox by the Cincinnati Redlegs for an undisclosed sum.

The Redlegs bought Meyer from the Chicago Cubs last Sept. 1 to bolster their pitching for the final month of the pennant race but he hurled only one inning for them.

He appeared in 20 games for the Cubs in 1956 and had a 1-6 record with them.

Cincinnati filled Meyer's spot on its staff by signing Raul Sanchez after buying his contract from Havana of a right-hander, had a 10-6 record and a 3.38 earned run average with Havana last season.

Meyer will be starting his 12th major league campaign and his first in the American League next week.

Meyer's best seasons were 17-8 with the Phillies in 1949 and 15-5 with the Dodgers in 1953. Meyer's temper always was his worst enemy. He was thrown out of games, drew fines and even injured his foot once while kicking the mound in a tantrum.

Mid-South Gym Meet Today

NATCHITOCHES, La., April 12 (Special)—Competition will be unusually stiff in this year's fourth Mid-South Intercollegiate Gymnastics Meet to be held in the N.S.C. men's gymnasium Saturday afternoon and night.

High school entries will be run off Saturday morning, beginning at 10 o'clock. Entries from Greenwood, Baton Rouge, West Monroe, Natchitoches, Istrouma and Bolton are expected to round out high school competition. Greenwood High of near Shreveport is the defending champion.

College and university runnings will begin with preliminaries in the afternoon, 2 p.m., while the finals are scheduled for 8 p.m. Northwestern has won the championship successively since its beginning in 1954.

Schools that will be trying to dethrone N.S.C. are Texas University, Texas A. and M., Baylor University and Kansas State College, all of which have competed in the past. Appearing for the first time will be Southern Illinois University and Gulf States Conference opponent Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

Gymnastics Coach John Piscopo of N.S.C. has listed the names of officials to preside over the meet. They are referee, Warren Hauth of New Orleans; judges, Ray Chism of Northwestern State College of Oklahoma, Charles S. Castaing of Tulane University and Shelby Brooks of Jena.

N.S.C. holds nine of the ten possible records for the three-year-old event. Coach Piscopo thinks, however, that several new marks will be established Saturday.

Demon co-captain Sonny Martinez holds four marks—in free calisthenics 25.8 points, rings 23.9 points, parallel bars 23.1 points and all-around with 138.7 points. Johnny Tinnell (N.S.C.) holds the trampoline record with 24.6 points; Alan Lundgren (N.S.C.), side horse, 23.5 points; Al Kopp (NSC) horizontal bar, 26.6 points; John Hicks (N.S.C.), tumbling, 27.4 points; Tommy Ragland (N.S.C.), rope climb, 4.9 seconds, and Dan Moriarty (Texas A. and M.) rounds out the present records with 25.5 points on the long horse.

In two of the past three meets the Demon musclemen have scored more points, teamwise, than the sum of their opposition.

Ted Didn't Talk For Publication

CHARLOTTE, N.C., April 12 (UP)—Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams had his picture snapped with two grinning Marines in full-dress uniforms yesterday.

Williams, here for a Boston exhibition game against Philadelphia, also offered an explanation of his recent and widely-quoted criticism of the Marine Corps to Charlotte News Sports Editor Bob Quincy.

Williams' remarks about his recall as a Marine flyer during the Korean conflict were carried in a New Orleans, La., newspaper. He later apologized for the remarks.

Quincy quoted Williams as saying: "Let's get this straight. The Marines are a great outfit. I sincerely mean that. At the time (of the New Orleans interview) I didn't realize I was being interviewed as such."

Quincy continued quoting Williams:

"Well, it boils to this. Look up in the stands. There isn't a person in this park that hasn't had a gripe of some sort. How many of them have said in an office conversation, 'the boss is a so-and-so'. They mean it and yet they don't. Maybe they think the world of the old guy but something bothers them at the time."

"You can rest assured they don't expect to pick up the paper the next day, or maybe the office bulletin, and see they've undermined the company."

IKE ESTABLISHES BACKGROUND FOR RELAXING CHINA TRADE

By J. M. ROBERTS, Associated Press News Analyst. President Eisenhower, recognizing the facts of life, has established the background for relaxation of America's restrictions on trade between her allies and Red defense forces as a contribution to her economic stability. It will let Japan do a bigger business with her nearest important customer and so relieve the pressure of her exports on American and British markets. Japan's low-cost exports, coupled with West Germany's drive for new markets, have created a serious problem for Britain in trade areas she formerly considered her own. The relaxation is expected to open up trade on about the same basis as now permitted with Soviet Russia, excluding strategic materials. The United States will not participate, still holding Red China as an aggressor under a United Nations resolution passed at the time of the Korean war, and still resolved to have no truck with Peiping until she frees the remaining eight Americans she has imprisoned. The United States has promised several times to consider Britain's da-opportunities on the trade situation, but always evaded final action. Prime Minister Macmillan finally turned the trick at Bermuda.

WHY GROW OLD Here's Help For Deepening Lines

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Women are distressed by deepening lines on their necks. Many factors contribute to this condition.

In the first place the way you hold your head has a terrific effect on the smoothness or lining of your neck. If you allow your neck to curve in at the back this will create lines at the back of your neck. If you habitually duck your chin in you will encourage lines in front of the neck. Add to that sleeping on large pillows, and reading in bed with pillows under your head, looking down when you walk, allowing yourself to collapse at the neck when you sit or slumping in a car when you drive—all of these will write their record on your poor neck.

STRETCH NECK

So, posture is one of the first things to watch. Stretch your neck! Sometimes deep lines on the neck come from poor posture when one was a child or quite young.

Then, too, as a woman grows older the fatty deposits between the skin and muscles decrease and this may cause some sag and lessen firmness. If a woman is very much overweight she will have creases on her neck just as a fat baby does. Even after she loses her extra pounds the lines may remain.

Now—what can we do once we have these lines? First correct posture so that they will not continue to deepen. Use a backrest when you read in bed. That is better for your eyes, too. If you must sleep on a pillow use a small, compact one.

"IRON OUT" LINES

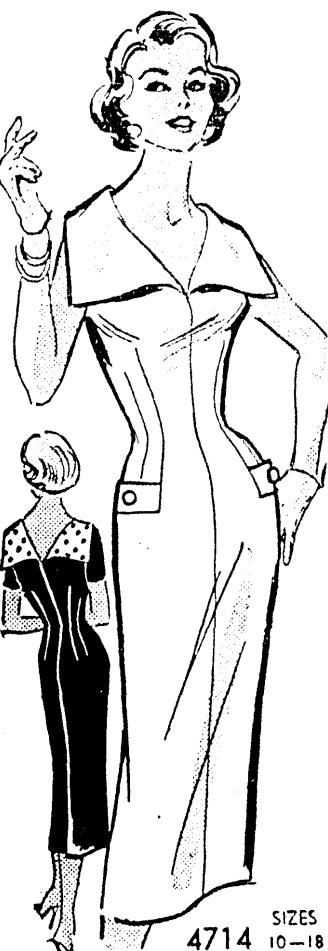

You can "iron out" these lines to some extent. In fact you can make great improvement. After cleansing the neck, massage an oily cream into it. Do this only ALONG the lines, using a rotary motion with your finger.

If you prefer an oil, heat it to a pleasant warmth before you massage it along the lines. You might leave one of these oils on all night. The oil works for you while you sleep and some almost completely disappear into the skin, leaving little if any grease.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Is Your Chinline a Pain in the Neck?" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 10 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

No Vacation Trip This Year? You Can Have Fun At Home

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

When April rolls around families begin to think about the vacations they may take, and begin to read vacation literature and weigh the advantage of this sort of the country against some other.

But let us pretend that for some reason sickness in the family prevents, extra expenses no one has counted upon, you can't dash of this year to wherever you desire. The alluring spots have to remain where they are, unseen by you.

Adults can take this. The motivation for staying home is better understood by them. But children do need change. They need activities over and above those of the daily grind and there is no reason why you cannot, if you so desire, vacation right at home.

City Attractions

Every city is possessed of attractions, while perhaps not equal to those of the great resorts, yet are new and interesting to persons who never have seen them.

If you live in a small town, then choose the city nearest you and explore it with the same vigor with which you would pace through a strange city. You'll find, if you hunt for them, manufacturing plants you did not know existed, beautiful buildings, lovely parks, interesting airports, woods and hills you never have wandered through; just because you have lived next door to them all your life they have not exerted the same appeal as the greener pastures beyond.

You can take a day off to explore. You can go picnicking in the woods, or build an outdoor fireplace at home. You can visit friends in another town, taking your own provisions with you—and staying at a nearby hotel. Then you'll be heartily welcome.

It Can Be Done

You can denude your home of all knick-knacks and ornaments so that keeping it clean will be a simple task. You can live as you might have lived if you had gone away on vacation, with only necessary housework done and the time devoted to having a good time.

Don't think it can't be done. You won't go far but you can see new sights, live in a more relaxed way, play more with your children and when the two or four weeks are up you will have fond memories of the unusual but delightful vacation you took right in your own home town.

If you would like our leaflet "Traveling with Children," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 82 to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD Here's Help For Deepening Lines

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Women are distressed by deepening lines on their necks. Many factors contribute to this condition.

In the first place the way you hold your head has a terrific effect on the smoothness or lining of your neck. If you allow your neck to curve in at the back this will create lines at the back of your neck. If you habitually duck your chin in you will encourage lines in front of the neck. Add to that sleeping on large pillows, and reading in bed with pillows under your head, looking down when you walk, allowing yourself to collapse at the neck when you sit or slumping in a car when you drive—all of these will write their record on your poor neck.

Ike Exhorts GOP Planners To Work Harder

OMAHA, April 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower called on Republican planners today to carry their message to "every Republican worker and every political friend."

In a brief telephoned message to the regional conference in Omaha, President Eisenhower said the district fact-finding conferences should be carried down to the district and precinct level "where our greatest strength will always live and grow."

"We welcome active participation by all."

"You are on the right path with this early beginning to elect a Republican House and Senate in 1958," he declared.

The President said he heartily endorsed the idea of the conferences and emphasized that they give the national party leaders opportunity to get personally and intimately acquainted with local leaders.

"Our never-ending task is to make our party responsive to the views of all the people," he said.

National GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn told the Midwest Republican leaders to "get down to specifics" in the 1958 congressional campaign.

"Elvis Presley earned more than a million dollars in 1956," — Press report. This probably the loosest use of the word "earned" on record.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Farmer Charged With Killing Brother To Get Mental Tests

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., (AP)—An elderly retired farmer accused of shooting his brother to death in a quarrel over treatment of his sister will undergo mental examinations at Whitfield state hospital.

Murder charges were filed against Ed T. Tyson, 72, who admitted shooting down wealthy Joe V. Tyson, retired druggist, in the back yard of the latter's home yesterday. The shooting occurred on the victim's 65th birthday.

Dr. Ray Wyatt, Marshall County health officer, and Dr. Herbert Phillips of Holly Springs examined the aged farmer today and reported their belief he is "suffering from a mental or nervous disorder or condition."

Tyson was taken immediately to Whitfield. If doctors there find he is sane, he will be brought back here and, if indicted by the grand jury, tried on the murder charge filed by county attorney Fred Swane.

The dead man was the wealthiest member of a family of elderly brothers and sisters, several of whom survive. Officers indicated Ed T. Tyson felt his brother had not adequately provided for their semi-invalid sister, Miss Lucy Tyson, who lived with Joe Tyson and another brother.

Sheriff Harold Crowder quoted the defendant as saying he shot his brother because of "the way he was treating Lucy."

"He freely admitted shooting Joe and told me he didn't want a lawyer and would be glad to tell a jury how and why he did it," the sheriff told reporters.

The dead man retired in 1950 after operating the Tyson drug store here more than 25 years. Services were held at 2 p.m. today from Reynolds Funeral Home.

Grand Jury Indicts Mayor Of Krotz Springs

OPELOUSAS, La., April 12 (AP)—Mayor Robert Humphreys of Krotz Springs today faced indictment charging malfeasance in office.

The St. Landry Parish Grand Jury indicted Humphreys yesterday. It also acted in 30 other cases.

Humphreys was charged with intentionally receiving and failing to carry out provisions of resolutions of the town Council having to do with payment and nonpayment of bills for materials and labor before Sept. 1, 1956 and April 9, 1957.

The indictment also charged failing to enforce provisions of an ordinance pertaining to the cutting of weeds in the town.

The jury, empaneled Monday, also indicted Lemuel Mann of Baton Rouge for the Jan. 6 kidnaping of 9-year-old Patsy Barron of Port Barre.

'Stick 'Em Up' Game Fatal To Little Boy, 6

SANDWICH, Ill., April 12 (AP)—In a game of "stick 'em up" that suddenly became deadly serious, a 4-year-old boy shot and killed an older brother and seriously wounded his sister yesterday.

The three children were alone in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Jensen. Police said a baby sister the Jensens had hired left the children about 10 minutes before the tragedy.

Coroner Paul VanNatta said the 4-year-old, Steve, found a .22-caliber rifle his father had placed behind a door and, playfully turning it on the two other children, jerked the trigger.

The one bullet in the weapon passed through the head of Jackie, 6, and still not spent, entered the back of their sister, Jody, 7.

AT MENTAL HOSPITAL

Patients Get Less Food Than Staffers

BATON ROUGE, April 12 (AP)—While the farm payroll at the east Louisiana State Hospital in Jackson is up $1,100 monthly, compared with a year ago, production is down.

Farm production is the key to the food fed the 4,800 patients at the state's largest mental institution, the States-Times said in its mental hospital series today.

Mrs. Oreka Norwood, hospital dietitian, said "we use what we have available. We can't give them something we don't have."

Navy Bomber Crash Kills Six Crewmen

BRUNSWICK, Maine, April 12 (AP)—A long-range Navy anti-submarine patrol bomber fell and burst into fire on a takeoff, killing all six crew members in the violent crash into woods just beyond the runway.

Cmdr. D. D. Decker, Brunswick Naval Air Station administrative officer, said "The plane didn't get too high. It appeared to be a little steep. Then it dove into the little wooded area. It was impossible to get anyone out."

The P2V5E Neptune Lockheed has two conventional engines and two jets set in pods used to assist in takeoffs. The craft, bound on a routine training mission as it took off southward on the north-south strip, carried almost a full load of gasoline which burned furiously.

The million-dollar plane narrowly missed five workmen who were clearing the pine grove into which the plane crashed.

Tractor operator Donald Holbrook, 34, of Brunswick, said his big machine ran over a wing tip and other parts of the disintegrated plane.

"I could feel the heat," he said. "I didn't dare get too near. I didn't see anybody or hear anybody. The moment she struck those trees she burst into flames. One engine was still running just before she hit. It sounded like the pilot had just revved it."

The control tower said that the plane had received clearance and that the crew had reported nothing wrong.

Pipeline Under Sea Approved

BATON ROUGE, April 12 (AP)—Louisiana has approved the first permit for construction of an undersea natural gas pipeline.

The pipeline will be built by Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., stretching from the coast of Cameron Parish some 32 miles southward into a natural gas field in the Gulf of Mexico.

Gov. Earl Long and Lucille May Grace Register of the State Land Office, signed the permit this week and Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlington approved it as to form and legality.

It is designed to transport natural gas from producing offshore wells into a coastal pipeline for relay to New England.

YOUR PROBLEMS

You Can Shear A Lamb Many Times But Only Take His Hide Once

Dear Ann: A friend (?) is about to pull a fast one on my husband for the fourth time. Perhaps a word from you will help avert disaster.

Five years ago my husband went into the cosmetic supply business with this man. We had the money and he had the "know-how" — we thought. In two years it cost us $12,000 and finally folded.

Next, they leased equipment to beauty shops, and for reasons which I still can't understand, they lost the equipment because it wasn't paid for when they leased it.

The third business venture was a failure because the face cream they manufactured gave some people a skin rash. Three suits were filed and the cases are still pending.

Now this man wants my husband to put our last $3,000 in a new type of hair-drying machine. This super-salesman still lives very high and seems to have lost none of his own money — just ours. How does a fellow get to be such a fast-talker, Ann? — Thrice Fleeced

Maybe his father was a tobacco auctioneer and his mother was a woman. After three financial disasters your husband should be wiser though poorer. Since he's the breadwinner however, it's his decision to make. If he's bent in this direction there's not much you can do beyond trying to reason with him.

Since this is the last $3,000 you may find the following thought comforting . . . "You can shear a lamb many times but you can only take his hide once."

Dear Ann: I think you short-changed little Joan in a recent column when you told her to expect an extra fee for sitting with two batches of kids instead of one.

As an experienced sitter-hiree I know that doubling the families triples the trouble. Kids at home are in an accustomed routine but the visiting firemen are likely to be jived up at being in strange

The newspaper said truck farm production the first eight months this fiscal year was off $90,000 and dairy production lost about $6,000.

Poultry production showed a "paper profit" of $3,000, the paper said, but an extra $10,000 in expenses exceeded the profit margin by $2,000.

Farm Manager J. K. Lindsey blamed poor weather for the production losses.

Business manager Warren Price said the hospital is planning a uniform diet for patients and employees.

The States-Times said the April 2 menu for patients served by the general kitchen was:

Breakfast — Grits, stew, bread and coffee.

Lunch — pinto beans, steamed rice, turnip greens, bread and milk.

Dinner — blackeyed peas, macaroni and tomatoes, jelly, bread and milk.

The employees menu on the same day:

Breakfast — stewed prunes, oatmeal and milk, eggs, biscuits, coffee and milk.

Lunch — roast beef and gravy, steamed rice, steamed cabbage, carrot loaf.

Dinner — veal chops, baked spaghetti and cheese, buttered fresh peas, jello, cookies, biscuits, coffee and milk.

Suicide In Jail Follows Family Triangle Fight

DALLAS, April 12 (UP)—Jamieson Pickens Ware, 34, hanged himself in Dallas county jail early today after a fight with his wife's 17-year-old suitor.

The suitor was Carlos Gene Wallace. His mother had Ware brought into Justice of the Peace Glenn Byrd's court last Jan. 17, where she tried to have him put under peace bonds.

She charged that Ware had threatened to kill her son for courting his wife. Wallace agreed to stop seeing Mrs. Ware and Ware agreed to sell his barbecue stand, and move out of Duncanville, a Dallas suburb, with his wife and three children.

But Ware left work early yesterday and went home, where he found Wallace. They got into a fight in the back yard and deputy sheriffs put them both in the county jail.

Jailers noticed Ware crying last night. He went to take a shower, made a rope out of his trousers and hanged himself from a shower stall bar.

Child Killed In Driveway

PRENTISS, Miss., April 12 (AP)—Gayle Bridges, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Bridges, was killed yesterday when she opened the car door as the mother backed the vehicle out of a driveway.

Sheriff Shelby Mikell said the car rolled backward over the child when the mother removed her foot from the brake pedal in a futile effort to grab the falling child.

ADDRESSES LIONS

Joe T. Kelly (above) prominent West Carroll parish business and civic leader, of Oak Grove, last night addressed the Lions Club at Columbia. In addition to reviewing phases of the civic-service accomplishments of Lionism, Kelly gave an interesting travel-talk based on a tour of Africa made last summer. He is being sponsored by the Oak Grove club for election to the post of district governor of the 40-club north Louisiana District 8-L.

Easter Parade To Be Held In Ferriday April 20

FERRIDAY, April 12 (Special)—Ben L. Green, Jr., chairman of the Key Club Committee of the Ferriday Kiwanis Club, announced today that the Ferriday Key Club will conduct an Easter Lily Parade on Saturday, April 20.

This club, which has been active in the past in other projects such as this one, will contact citizens of Concordia Parish to give a helping hand to Crippled Children.

Mrs. E. E. Wallace, Concordia Parish Chairman of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., has expressed her gratitude to the Key Club for their support and aid in helping Concordia Parish make a good showing in the 1957 Easter Seal campaign.

Industrials Recover On Stock Market

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—A recovery by industrials snapped the stock market out of early irregularity today and gave it another advance.

It was a moderate rise but on fairly good volume. It helped to give this week the biggest weekly advance on average of 1957.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 40 cents to $178.30 with the industrials up 80 cents, the rails down 20 cents and the utilities up 20 cents.

Of 1,162 issues traded, advances outnumbered declines by 470 to 444. There were 76 new 1957 highs and 21 new lows.

Volume totaled 2,370,000 shares compared with 2,350,000 yesterday.

Of the 15 most active issues, nine rose and six fell.

Corporate bonds were lower in sluggish trading.

U. S. government bonds declined in light dealings over-the-counter.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Cotton futures, after moving nervous, fell over fairly wide price ranges, closed 2 cents a bale lower to 25 cents higher today.

The market started irregular at which time new crop deliveries were up almost $1 a bale, with October through May trading at new highs for the season. Demand for these contracts was spurred by expectations for a higher loan rate for 1957 crop than is presently indicated. The interim loan rate has already been established at 77 per cent of parity, but based on advancing parity, it is expected the drop will be in the neighborhood of 81 per cent. Secretary of Agriculture Benson has already stated that he favored a higher prop for this year's production.

Weather over the main cotton producing region was again only partly favorable. Many sections reported moisture which is holding up planting preparations and progress of the crop.

The extreme advance in new crop months encountered profit-taking and values for most contracts receded back to or below the previous finish. Support in nearby May and July contracts was attributed to textile mills, although some short covering was also reported.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular here today, with old crop months advancing on trade buying and short covering. New crop positions were under mild pressure of weekend long realizing.

Closing prices were steady 25 cents a bale higher to 20 cents lower.

Sizeable buying in new crop months, principally October, resulted in a strong opening with new life of contract highs in those months. Mill and speculative interests appeared to be the main buyers. The advance in current profit taking and values closed about unchanged from the previous day. Trading commenced in October 1957 with an opening sale of 32.15 with New Orleans leading the selling that month declined to 31.90 before attracting good buying. Clayton sold in the vicinity of 5000 bales of May and shortcovering supplied the contracts.

Unfixed call sales as of April 5th were 370,900 bales versus 1,016,900 a year ago. Exports today 32,271 bales making the estimated total for the season 5,790,332 versus 1,255,933 a year ago according to New York Cotton Exchange. Weather throughout the South is reported as still generally unfavorable due to substantial amounts of moisture in many areas with more forecast. Many plantings are reported delayed.
